

The book cover features blind-tooled text and decorative elements. At the top, the title "THE HISTORY OF THE REIGN OF KING CHARLES THE FIRST" is visible, followed by the author's name "BY JOHN BURNET". The central part of the cover is dominated by a large diamond-shaped frame, likely containing the title and author's name in a larger font. Below the diamond, there are three raised bands, each with a small rectangular hole cut through it. The text is arranged in columns, with some lines appearing to be part of a larger inscription or dedication. The leather is heavily worn, with significant scuffing and staining, particularly in the central area where the diamond is located. The spine of the book is visible on the left, showing the traditional thread-bound structure with a small white label at the top.
