1. THE SUICIDE.
	Page
Death smiles, and seems his Dart to hide :
When he beholds the Suicide. - - - - -	1
2. CHAMPAGNE, SHERRY, AND WATER-GRUEL.
Have patience, Death, nor be so cruel,
To spoil the Sick Man's Water-Gruel. - - - -	18
3. THE NURSERY.
Death rocks the Cradle : Life is o'er :
The Infant sleeps, to wake no more. - - - -	33
4. THE ASTRONOMER.
Why, I was looking at the Bear :
But what strange Planet—see I there? - - - -	38
5. THE FATHER OF THE FAMILY.
The Doctors say, that you're my Booty :
Come, Sir, for I must do my Duty. - - - -	43
6. THE FALL OF FOUR-IN-HAND.
Death can contrive to strike his Blows
By over-turns, and over-throws. - - - - -	49
7. GAFFER GOODMAN.
Another Whiff—and all is o'er ;
And Gaffer Goodman is no more. - - - - -	62

INDEX.

8. THE URCHIN ROBBERS.	Page
O, the unconscionable Brute !
To murder—for a little Fruit! - - - - -	70
9. DEATH TURNED PILOT.
The fatal Pilot grasps the Helm,
And steers the Crew to Pluto's Realm. - - - -	79
10. THE WINDING UP OF THE CLOCK.
" No one but me shall set my Clock :"
He set it—and behold the Shock! - - - - -	87
11. THE FAMILY OF CHILDREN.
'Twere well to spare me two or three
Out of your num'rous Family. - - - - -	95
12. DEATH'S DOOR.
In this World all our Comfort's o'er :
So let us find it at Death's Door. - - - - -	101
13. THE FIRE.
Let him go on, with all his Rigs ;
We're safe—He'll only burn the Pigs. - - -	106
14. THE MISER'S END.
Old Dad, at length, is grown so kind—
He dies, and leaves his Wealth behind. - - -	116
15. GRETNA GREEN.
Love, spread your Wings, I'll not out-strip 'em :
Though Death's behind, He will not clip 'em. - - -	126
16. THE WALTZ.
By Gar, that horrid, strange Buffoon
Cannot keep time to any Tune. - - - - -	137

17. MATERNAL TENDERNESS.
Thus, it appears, a Pond of Water,
May prove an Instrument of Slaughter. - -	144
18. THE KITCHEN.
Thou Slave to ev'ry gorging Glutton :
I'll spit thee, like a Leg of Mutton. - - - - -	152
19. THE GIG.
Away they go, in Chaise and one,
Or to undo, or be undone. - - - - -	158
20. THE MAUSOLEUM.
Your crabbed Dad is just gone Home ;
And now we look for Joys to come. - - - -	167
21. THE COURTSHIP.
It is in vain that you decide :
Death claims you as his destin'd Bride. - - -	173
22. THE TOASTMASTER.
" The End of Life," the Chairman cries ;
'Tis drank—and many a Topper dies. - - - -	199
23. THE CARELESS AND THE CAREFUL.
The Careful, and the Careless, led
To join the Living and the Dead. - - - - -	204
24. THE LAW OVERTHROWN.
The Serjeant's Tongue will cease to brawl
In ev'ry Court of yonder Hall. - - - - -	210
25. THE FORTUNE TELLER.
All Fates he vow'd to him were known,
And yet he could not tell his own. - - - - -	222
26. THE LOTTERY OFFICE.
To trust to Fortune's Smiles alone,
Is the High Road to be undone. - - - - -	230

	Page
27. THE PRISONER DISCHARGED.
Death, without either Bribe or Fee,
Can set the hopeless Pris'ner free. - - - - -	236
28. THE GALLANT'S DOWNFALL.
Th' Assailant does not feel a Wound ;
But yet he dies—for he is drown'd. - - - - -	241
29. THE CHURCH-YARD DEBATE.
'Tis strange, but true, in this World's Strife,
That Death affords the Means of Life - - -	250
30. THE GOOD AND GREAT.
What heart-felt Tears bedew the Dust
Of Him whose ev'ry Thought was just. - - -	256
31. THE NEXT HEIR.
'Tis not the Time to meet one's Fate,
Just ent'ring on a large Estate. - - - - -	259
32. THE CHAMBER WAR.
When Doctors three, the Labour share,
No Wonder Death attends them there. - - -	266
33. DEATH AND THE ANTIQUARIES.
Death, jealous of his Right, stands Cent'ry
Over the strange, burglarious Entry. - - - - -	271
34. THE DAINTY DISH.
This fine, hot, Feast's a Preparation
To some, for Death's last cold Collation. - -	275
35. THE LAST STAGE.
From Hour to Hour, from Youth to Age,
Life's Traveller takes th' uncertain Stage. - -	283
36. TIME, DEATH AND ETERNITY.
The Song now bursts beyond the Bounds of Time,
And Immortality concludes the Rhyme. - - -	290
