

IST mors naturalis
et pœnalis, natu-
ralis per quam anima separatur a
corpo, pœnalis
vero est cum anima e virtutis vita emoritur et vivit in vita vitii.

PHILO JUDÆUS.

— And bifornay comynnes man yourselvys emperys mervys rymyngys.

*Ye ben abasshed, it semeth, and in dredre, Syre cardynalle; me thynketh by your chere;
But gyt forthy ye folowe shale in dede
With oþere folk, my daunce for to lere.*

