[Small rectangular label or stamp on the right side of the page, containing some illegible text.]
