

Fragment of text from the adjacent page, written in a cursive script, likely Latin or a similar historical language. The text is partially obscured by the binding and the edge of the page.