The page contains several horizontal red lines, likely representing musical staves. Faintly visible on these staves are handwritten musical notes and symbols, including a large red 'F' and a red 'E'. There are also some small, illegible markings and what appears to be a small musical staff at the top right corner. The paper is heavily stained with brown and grey spots, particularly in the center and lower half.

Handwritten musical notation on aged, stained paper. The notation consists of square neumes on red four-line staves. The text below the staves is partially legible, including the words "est" and "ru". A large red initial letter, possibly "C", is visible on the left side of the page. The paper shows significant water damage and discoloration.
