THE
BRITISH ORDER
OF

O F

K N I G H T H O O D.

THE English title Knight is derived from the Saxon Cniht, or Knecht Teutonick, a servant; and in all probability proceeded from their serving the King in his wars. Verstegan says, this title was given by our ancestors to such as were admitted for their merits to be Knights to the King, being his own servants, officers, or retainers, to ride with him; it seems that some, if not all, were anciently called Knights-riders.

The most ancient manner of conferring Knighthood was by putting the military belt loose over the shoulder, or girding it close about the waist. The first Christian Kings, at giving their belt, kissed the new Knight on the left cheek, saying, In honour of the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Ghost, I make you a Knight *.

The first account (according to Sir William Segar) that we have of Ceremonies in making a Knight in England, was in the year 506, in the following manner; viz. A stage was erected in some cathedral, or spacious place near it, to which the gentleman was conducted to receive the honour of Knighthood. Being seated on a chair decorated with green silk, it was demanded of him if he were of a good constitution, and able to undergo the fatigue required in a soldier; also whether he were a man of good morals, and what credible witnesses he could produce to affirm the same.

Then the Bishop, or chief Prelate of the Church, administered the following oath: Sir, you that desire to receive the order of Knighthood, swear before God, and this holy book, that you will not fight against his Majesty, that now bestoweth the order of Knighthood upon you. You shall also swear, to maintain and defend all Ladies, Gentlemen, Widows, and Orphans; and you shall shun no adventure of your person in any war wherein you shall happen to be.

The oath being taken, two Lords led him to the King, who drew his sword, and laid it upon his head, saying, God and St. George (or what other Saint the King pleased to name) make thee a good Knight; after which, seven Ladies dressed in white came and girt a sword to his side, and four Knights put on his spurs.

Then the Lords and Ladies also sat down upon other seats, three descents under the King; and being all thus seated, they were entertained with a delicate collation; and so the ceremony ended.

If any Knight absented himself dishonourably from his King's service, leaving his colours, going over to the enemy, betraying of castles, forts, &c. for such crimes he was apprehended, and caused to be armed cap-a-pee,

cap-a-pee, and then seated on a scaffold erected in the church, where, after the priest having sung some funeral Psalms, as though he had been dead; they first took off his helmet, to shew his face, then his military girdle, broke his sword, cut off his spurs from his heels with a hatchet, pulled off his gauntlets, and after his whole armour, and then reversed his coat of arms; after which the Heralds crying out, “ This is “ a disloyal miscreant,” with many other ignoble ceremonies, he was thrown down the stage with a rope*; but now the martial law is usually put in execution, by dispatching such traitorous persons by a file of musqueteers.

In the time of the Saxons here in England, Knights received their institutions at the hands of great prelates, with many religious ceremonies; but after the Conquest this custom was restrained by a synod at Westminster, A. D. 1102. 3 Henry I. †

Knighthood anciently depended upon tenure; so that he who held a knight's-fee might be compelled to take the same, or undergo a fine, which quite debased the title. Camden says, Knights were made upon account of their estates; for they who had a great Knight's-fee (that is, if we may credit old records, 680 acres of land) claimed the honour of Knighthood, as thereby entitled to it.

In Henry the Third's reign whoever had the yearly revenue of fifteen pounds in land, was compelled to receive this dignity: so that the title was become rather a burthen than an honour. In the year 1256 the King issued a proclamation, whereby it was ordered and declared throughout the realm, that whoever had fifteen librats of land or above, should be knighted, for increase of the military strength of England, as it was in Italy; and that they who would not, or could not, support the honour of Knighthood, should compound for a dispensation.

And in those days, when the King made a Knight, he sat in state upon his throne, in robes of gold, with a small gold crown upon his head; and to every Knight he allowed one hundred shillings for equipage.

And not only the King, but the Earls also, conferred Knighthood, in that age. The Earl of Gloucester having proclaimed a tournament, knighted his brother William; and Simon de Montefort, Earl of Leicester, conferred the same honour upon Gilbert de Clare*.

Note. A Knight's service was a tenure, by which several lands in this nation were held of the King. But it is abolished by statute of 12 Car. II. chap. 24. The qualifications for Knighthood are Merit, Birth, and Estate; they are to be Gentlemen of three paternal descents, bearing coat armour †.

The different Orders of Knighthood are divided into two classes; the first consists of the Religious, which not only includes the defence of the Princes, the State, and of Christianity, but also by particular vows, and other Rules, renders them entirely under subjection to their chief. The second class comprehends the military, which Sovereigns have established to encourage the nobility, and keep emulation among their subjects in the wars, and the management of state affairs.

A REPORTE of a familiar Conference betwene a Knightes eldest sonne and a Student in the Lawes of the realme concerning the preheminency of the ordre of Knight-hode before the degre of a Sergeant at Lawe*.

THE eldest sonne of a Knight, a youth of good mettall, hauing heard it bruted, that of late the Sergeantes at Lawe stroue to take place of Knightes, was desirous to informe himself therein, thereupon he got the booke intituled, "Honor military and Ciuill," and that w'ch is called, "the Glory of Generositie," wherein many worthy thinges he found written of the honor of Knighthod; but finding very litle of the degre of the Sergeant at Lawe: but not being satisfied therewith, he bethought him of an acquaintaynce, a good student in the lawes of the realme, and cast about howe he might get from him how the Lawes of the realme did account of Knighthod,

After som frendly discourses betwene them, the fell to talke of the multitude of Knightes lately made †: "I dought not," quoth the young gentleman, "it will brede a disgrace to the whole degre." "It may be soe," quoth his frende, "but seing it hath pleased the King's Ma'tie to be bountefull therein, at his first comning, why shold the degre take any hurte thereby; for I can tell you, in our realme, they haue bene of greate esteme." "Why!" saith the young gentleman, "what hath y'r lawes to doe w'th them?"

* From an original MS. of Sir Rich. St. George, Knt. Norroy King of Arms.

† The MS. was written a^o 1604, being the second year of King James the First, who, at his accession to the crown, made upwards of 300 Knights.

" Yes," faith he, " I remember well that this worde
 " miles, in our lawe, hath bene alwayes taken to be
 " nomen dignitatis; so that a Knight might not sue
 " nor be sued, but by the name of Knight; though it
 " weare not so necessary for Lordes, and other great
 " officers, to haue there title of there dignities added
 " to there names in such like cases." " What shold
 " be the reason of that," quoth the youth? " I am " not ready," faith the Lawyer, " to yealde you a " good reason of a soddayne; for I haue applied my " studies to a more profitable ende, and have thought " of these things but obiter; yet in a short tyme I " thinke I sholde be able to say somewhat to the " matre, for our lawe is grounded upon exquisite
 " reason; but for the present I suppose veryly that it
 " tendeth to proue that the name of Knight was then " in much reputation." " I pray you," quoth the " youth, " bestowe an houre or two for my sake, to loke
 " into y'r Abbridgments, and gather me out of your " cases concerning Knights; and when I com to my " landes I will giue you a double fee." " Giue me
 " tyme till to-morrowe," faith his acquaintance, " and " for y'r sake I will see what I can doe." So for that tyme they parted.

The next morning the young Esquire came agayne, and asked what he had done? " What!" quoth the student, " you are very hasty; it requireth longer tyme;
 " yet take here what I have found in so shorte a space:"

" It is somewhat touched," quoth he, " in the " booke cases of a^o 40 E. III. c. 36. and a^o 7 H. IV.
 " fol. 7. but more plainly a^o 11 H. IV. fol. 40. wheare
 " Thorning, Chiefe Justice of the Common Place
 " faith exprefsly, that if an action be brought against
 " a Knight,

“ a Knight, not naming him Knight, the suite cold
 “ not go forward, because, said he, the worde Knight
 “ is a name of dignitie; and most fully, a^o 7 H. VI.
 “ fol. 15. wheare Richard Hankford hauing begon a “ suite against an other, abought the presentation to a “ benifice, was during the suite, made a Knighte; in “ that case judgment was giuen, that his suite shold “ goe to the grounde; and in the handling thereof, “ Paston, a gentlemanlike Sergeaunt, said, that it was “ honorable to the realme to make Knights. And “ Babington, Chiefe Justice, said, that if any mete
 “ man being sent for, did refuse to take upon him “ that ordre and honor (for so the wordes be) he was “ to be fined. And in a case a^o 32 H. VI. fol. 29. it is “ affirmed by Présot, a greate learned Judge, that if “ an Esquire be made a Knight, the name of Esquire “ was gone; but if a Knight weare made an Earle or “ Duke, the name of Knight remained. And a^o 8 E.
 “ IV. fol. 23. at too several times diuers of the Judges “ weare of this opinion, that this worde Knight was “ not only, nomen dignitatis, but parcell of his name
 “ also. Take this,” quoth he, “ for the present; and “ at more leysure I shall finde more.” “ Well,” saith the other, “ I thanke you for this; but tell me, I “ pray you, is the lawe so still?” “ Yea, surely,” answered the Student, “ for any thinge I knowe; save that “ I remember there was a statute made, a^o 1 Edw. the “ VIth, to remedy the overthrowinge of the suite, if “ the plaintife, during the continuance thereof, weare
 “ made a Knight.” “ That hath good reason,” replied the youth, “ in my litle skill, it is harde that a “ suite well begonne shold be dashed by an addition of “honor.” And so bidding him farewell, saith the Student unto him, “You are at good leysure, take, “ here, I will lend you the statute bookes in Englishe; “ turne them over; perhaps you may finde there of “ Knights for your purpose; for I remember som- “ what; but it is not now readie with me.”

The young Esquire toke the bookes home w'th him, and being sett on edge, began w'th the greate Charter of Restitution and Confirmation of the auntient Cuf- tomes and Liberties of England, graunted by King Henry the Third, in the ixth yeare of his raighe, in the xiith chapter, he founde it ordayned, that affises of Novell-diffeison, and of mortdaunceflor, shold not be taken any other wheare but w'thin the counties where they happened; and that the King him- self, or his Chiefe Justice (if he were out of the realme) shold send his Justices thorough every countie once a yeare, who, w'th the Knightes of the same countie, shold there take the affizes. It incoraged him well to have so good luck at the first; and going on, he founde like credit given unto Knightes in the Sta- tutes of Westminster, the first in the third yeare of Edward the First, the chapter 30, and in the statute of anno 27 of Ed. the First, capit 3 & 4, whereby they weare appointed to be associated to the Justice of nisi prius; also he found besides amongst the statutes of Westminster, the first capit 35, especiall pvision made, that euery tenaunt shold pay to his Landlord, towards thè making of his caldest sonne of his said Landlorde Knight. That pleased him also; and began to imagine, it might be his owne turne to haue som' benifite by that statute hereafter, but be observed moreover out of it, that about that time it seemed to be a chargeable thing to be made a Knight; and going on amongst those statutes, and out of the 42th chapter of Westminster, the second a^o 13 E. I. he gathered much plausible matter; for there he founde that Earles and Barones, longe before that tyme, had used to take the ordre of Knighthod vpon them as an addition of honor; for there it was p^{ro}vided, because the Marshalls began to exacte ouer greate fees, that if he had taken a palfrey at the doinge of there homage, he should not take an other palfrey, when the King made them Knightes; but should content himself w^{ith} on palfrey for both, or w^{ith} the ancient prise thereof, and this was long before there was any speciall ordre of Knighthod invented in England after the Conquest. Yet he turned further, and light upon the statute of Carlile, made a^o 15 E. II. by w^{ch} it was enacted about acknowledgement of fines to be levied of landes betwene p^{ar}ty and p^{ar}ty (a matter of greate importance) if any of the p^{ar}ties could not appeare in courte, that then one at the leaste of the Judges of the same courte, w^{ith} an Abbot, Prior, or Knight, should goe to the p^{ar}ty, and take his acknowledgement, and certifie the same. And turning to and fro he found another olde ordinance concerning matter of torneaments, in w^{ch} noble exercise Knights weare associate to Earles and Barones, and one lawe for them all. So thinking he had enoughe he gaue ouer for the time; after a daye or too he went w^{ith} his collections to vizite his lawyer upon the meetinge; "What!" saith the Lawyer, "haue you founde any thing for your purpose?" "Yea, that I haue," answered the youth, "I hope I " shall

“ shall turne Lawyer allso, I haue so good lucke,” and shewed him his laboures. “ It is well done, in good “ faith,” saith the Lawyer, “ for a young beginner.”
 The young gentleman thereupon fell into this speache:
 “ But what say you to y'r Sergeautes at Lawe, ought “ they to take place aboue Knights? for soe I heare “ say they begin to doe.” W'th this the Lawyer smilingly loking on him, “ Why not,” quoth he, “ if “ they can get it? The common law, I tell you, is an “ honorable p'fession.” “ Nay, but good Sir,” quoth the youthe, “ doe you thinke it well done in dede?
 “ Haue you, amongst y'r owne booke cases asmuch
 “ warrant for the reputation of a Sergeaunte as you “ haue deliuered me for a Knight; I tell you true, I “ finde nothing among the olde statutes for there cre“ dit.” “ Yes,” saith he, “ I can shew you an opi“ nion of a late learned man, that this worde Seriaunt “ is a name of dignitie aswell as a Knight.” “ What!”
 quoth the youth, “ and that a suite brought by a law“ yer, before he was sergeaunt, shold abate, he being “ made sergeaunt?” “ I cannot shewe any president “ thereof,” saith the other, “ nor remember any booke
 “ case thereupon; but loke into the statutes I told you “ on the last day concerning such mattres; and you “ shall finde that it streached by exprefs name unto “ Sergeaunts aswell as unto Knights.” “ I beseeche
 “ you, let me se the statute,” saith the youth, “ for “ now I thinke I taste a statute well.” The Lawyere turned to the statute, and there they found it so indede. “ You haue said fore to me,” saith the youth; “ but yet I espye a difference; the “ Knight is there placed before the Sergeaunt: an “ other

“ other thing I note, that Barones be mentioned there
 “ also; and yet ye tolde me the other day, that Baro
 “ was not nomen dignitatis in your Lawe: why then “ did they nedelesly put them in amongest the reste?”
 “ I was not of councell wth the penning of the acte,” quoth the Lawyer, “ I cannot tell you readilye.”
 “ Will you heare the witt of a younge Lad,” quoth the youth; “ they founde the Baron worthy of more “ than that; and the Sergeautes themselves being “ most likely the penners or surveiors of such a lawe“ acte, put themselves in for there credits: he is an ill
 “ cooke, the say, that cannot licke his owne fingers.”
 The Lawyer laughed hartely at his reason. There sate by them at that time a Solicitor to a Nobleman: “ In “ good fouth,” quoth he, “ by y^r good favours, if “ you will giue me leaue to speake, I haue much mar-“ vailed at on thinge, in reading ouer my Lordes “ auntient evidences I finde very many olde dedes, and “ many Knightes witneses unto them, and most co“ monly in these words: Hiis Testib^r dominis M. C.
 “ J. T. militib^r, &c. and yet I knowe well these witt-“ nesces weare never Lordes, and if he weare a Lorde
 “ and Knight also, yet was it all one, and many “ Knightes, in there owne dedes did also write them“ selves Sciant, q̄d. ego Dominus E. F. miles, &c.
 “ and there wives be called Ladies as longe as they “ liue.” “ You say somewhat for the estimation of “ Knights,” sayth the youth; “ for since I was at “ schole I have learned, that Dominus in Latyne is “ Lorde in Englishe, and in French Sire; whereby
 “ you cause me to observe, that unto this day Knightes
 “ be called comonly Sr. J. E. or Sr. J. T.” There-

upon the speache betwene them brake up; for it seemed the other twoe had more mattre of earnest to confer upon; the youth bad them farwell, and tolde the Lawyer "he had forgate his bookes; but he wold bring them the next day w'th thanks." Having litle to doe, when he came home, he fell to turne over the booke of the statutes in the tyme of King H. VIII. and by mere chaunce light upon a statute concerning apparrell, in the first yeare of his raigne, capt. 14. and being desirous to knowe what apparrell he himself might weare, he founde there phibited amongst other thinges, that no man, under the degre of a Knight, except Spirituall Men and Sergeaunts at the Lawe, &c, shold vse any more cloathe in a longe gowne than foure broade yeardes. "Oh," saith he, "that I had the Lawyer heare; I wold put him downe, concerning his Sergeaunts; I understond Englishe aswell as the best of them." He turned further, and founde the like lawe, worde for worde, in effect, a^o 7 H. VIII, ca. 7. "What," quoth he, "if the Sergeaunt had wrong in the first statute, to be put under the degre of a Knight, cold he not right himself in the next? I am verily pswaded there was no question in those dayes but that the degre of a Sergeaunte was under the degre of a Knight." So he lefte it till the next day, when he caried home the bookes.

"I thanke you for y'r bookes, Sir," quoth he, "in faith, I haue founde here mattre enough to pswade your Sergeants to content them w'th there due places; for I haue heard the most of them to be graue and modest men." "What is that," quoth the Lawyer? So he shewed him the twoe statutes.

When

When he had read them he pawfed awhile; and then w'th good courage: "Tufhe, tufhe," quoth he, "you are neuer a whit the nearer; both thefe statutes be repealed." "Repealed!" quoth the youth; and, w'th a fecond breath, "What though," quoth he, "I am fure I may nevertheless truly collect out of them what the opinion of the whole plliament was then concerning the difference of there degrees." "Well, well," faith the Lawyer, "there is a late statute; we will fee how that statute runneth." So he turned to the statute of 24 H. VIII. cap. 15. and read it over. "Locye," faid the Studient, "here is no fuch mattre." "Marry, no mervaile," faith the other; "for that claufe of longe gownes, wherein this difference is fet out, is wholly left out; but is there any thing in this contrary to the former? I tell you truly, as little fkill as I haue, I note on thing in it more than I knewe before, concerning the folempne ftate of a Knight, it is here generally phibited, that no man, unles he be a Knight, fhall weare any coller of SS; indede I haue fene very fewe at this day, but the Judges that be Knightes, vfe them." "You are very earnest in y'r father's behalf," faith the Lawyer. "Nay, but for the truth," quoth the other; "But on thing more I wold fayne fee, and I haue done: You tolde me of an authoritie that this word Sergeant was nomen dignitatis. Let me fee the place, if you be a good fellowe." So he toke downe his Brooke's Abridgment, and fhewed him the place where Broke faith, "dicitur alibi, qd feruiens ad legem est nomen dignitatis." "Alibi," faith the young gentleman, "where is that alibi? haue you read
" it

“ it in any other bookes of your Lawe ?” “ In dede,” saith the other, “ I doe not remember it.” “ Well,” quoth the youth, “ I dought y’r booke is misprinted, “ for alibi it shold be nullibi,” “ You are very pleasant,” quoth the Lawyer. “ Nay,” quoth he, “ I have done,
 “ I loue Lawyers well, and hope to be a Sergeaunt my “ selfe, if I cold once get thorough my Litleton; and I “ tell you true in the bookes of herauldes that be pub“ lished, Sergeaunts be ranked but amongst Squires.”

“ Farewell now, my good Lawyer; and I may “ chauce to have a turne or twoe abought w’th an “ herald in this mattre, aswell as I haue had w’th you,
 “ if I may light of a man of judgment and skill in “ there p’fession, as I heare say som of them are at “ this time; and I will take a time to loke ouer the “ auntient Chronicles and Histories of our Nation,
 “ what they reporte of Knighthod, for I hope to finde
 “ there recorded, that Kinges haue honored there “ ealdest sonnes, and y’r greatest men whom y’u call “ p’ceres & magnates regni w’th the order of Knight-
 “ hod, as a great grace unto them. Adieu.”

Order of the Garter.

THE ORDER OF THE GARTER.

THE most noble order of the Garter was instituted by king Edward III. Jan. 19, 1344.

King Edward, being of a military genius, and engaged in a war for recovering of France (which descended to him by right of his mother), made it his business to draw the best soldiers of Europe into his interest.

With this view he projected the restoration of king Arthur's Round Table; and proclaimed a solemn tilting, to invite foreigners of quality and courage to the exercise.

The place for the solemnity being fixed at Windsor, he published his royal letters of protection, for the safe coming and returning of such foreign Knights as intended to venture their reputation at those Jests and Tournaments which were to be held on the 19th of January, 1344.

He provided a great supper, to begin the solemnity; and then ordaining this feast to be annually kept at Whitsuntide, he for that purpose erected a particular building in the castle, wherein he placed a round table, of two hundred feet diameter, in imitation of king Arthur's at Winchester; and thereat entertained the Knights at his own expence of a hundred pounds per week.

This Prince (Edward) commended himself, and his companions, to the patronage of St. George, who suffered martyrdom under Dioclesian the Emperor, and was a person of greater eminence, in both the Eastern and Western churches, than any other military saint; and that his memory might be still continued, he gave them, for part of their daily habit, the image of the said saint (sitting on horseback encountering the dragon with a tilting spear) appendant to a blue ribbon, continually to be worn about their necks.

The said King, issuing out his garter for the signal of a battle that was crowned with success (which is supposed to be the battle of Cressy, where he took John the French King prisoner, and brought him to England; at which time he had also prisoner David King of Scotland, and by Edward his son the Black Prince expelling the Rebels of Castile, and enthroning Don Pedro) their lawful King, he upon these glorious exploits instituted this Order, giving the Garter pre-eminence amongst its ensigns, whence the select number, whom he incorporated into a fraternity, were styled Equites Auræ Periscelidis, viz. Knights of the golden Garter, an order by companionship illustrated with the Emperors of Germany, Kings of France, Denmark, Portugal, Spain, Scotland, Sweden, Naples, Poland, and Arragon; besides many Princes and Dukes, as Orange, Brunswick, Burgundy, Urbin, Holstein, Guelderland, Holland, Milan, Savoy, Saxony, Wirtemberg, Ferrara, Brandenburg, &c.

The habits and ensigns of the order, with the forms of investiture, are thus:

They

They consist of the Garter, Surcoat, Mantle, Hood, George, Collar, Cap, and Feathers; the four first were assigned by the founder, and the rest by king Henry VIII. These are the whole habits or ensigns of the order.

The Garter has the pre-eminence, being the first part of the habit presented to foreign princes and absent Knights, who, and all other Knights elect, are therewith first adorned; and is of so great honour and grandeur, that by the bare investiture with this noble ensign, the Knights are esteemed companions of the greatest military order in the world.

The Garter, appointed to be worn by the Knights on the left leg between the knee and calf, was instituted by the founder, as a tie of association in honour and military virtue, to bind the Knights strictly to himself and each other in friendship, and as an ensign of unity and combination, to promote the honour of God, and the interest of their prince and sovereign.

He also caused to be wrought in gold letters this motto, Honi soit qui mal y pense; declaring thereby the equity of his intention, retorting shame and defiance upon him who should dare to think ill of the just enterprize in which he had engaged, for the support of his right to that crown.

When the sovereign designs to elect a companion into this order, the chancellor belonging to the said, draws up the letters, which, passing both under the sovereign's sign manual and the signet of the order, are sent to the person by Garter principal king of arms, which is as follows:

We, with the companions of our most noble order of the Garter, assembled in chapter holden this present day at our castle of Windsor, considering the virtuous fidelity you have shewn, and the honourable exploits you have done in our service, by vindicating and maintaining in our just right, &c. have elected and chosen you one of the companions of our order. Therefore we require you to make your speedy repair unto us, to receive the ensigns thereof, and be ready for your installation upon the — day of this present month, &c.

The Garter, which is of blue velvet bordered with gold (having the letters of the motto of the same), is buckled upon the leg, at the time of the election, with this ceremony :

To the honour of God omnipotent, and in memorial of the blessed Martyr St. George, tye about thy leg for thy renown this noble Garter; wear it as the symbol of the most illustrious order, never to be forgotten or laid aside; that thereby thou mayst be admonished to be courageous; and having undertaken a just war, in which thou shalt be engaged, thou mayst stand firm, valiantly fight, and successfully conquer.

The Garter being buckled on, and the words of its signification pronounced, the elect Knight is brought before the sovereign, who puts about his neck a sky coloured ribbon, to which is pendant the image of St. George on horseback encountering with the dragon, the whole encircled with the Garter. See Plate 5.

THE ADMONITION.

WEAR this ribbon about thy neck, adorned with the image of the blessed Martyr, and soldier of Christ, St. George, by whose imitation provoked, thou mayst so overpass both prosperous and adverse adventures, that having stoutly vanquished thy enemies, both of body and soul, thou mayst not only receive the praise of this transient combat, but be crowned with the palm of eternal victory.

His stockings and breeches (being the same) are of pearl-coloured silk, called pantaloons. On the outside of the right knee is fixed a knot of open silver lace and ribbons intermixed, in form of a large rose; and, a little below the knee, is placed the Garter. His shoes, which are of white shammy, with red heels, have each a knot (as the former) on the exterior side. His doublet is cloth of silver, adorned before and behind, and down the sleeves, with several guards, or rows of open silver lace, each lace having a row of small buttons set down the middle. The cuffs are open, and adorned with the aforementioned lace and ribbons set in small loops. At the bottom of the upper seam of each cuff, is fixed a knot of silver ribbons that fall over his gloves, which are of kid, laced at the top with silver, and adorned at the opening with a knot, as that on the cuff. His trowsers (which are of tiffue, the same as the doublet, and adorned with two rows of lace and ribbons, intermixed and set at a small distance, that the ground appears between them) being buckled round his waist, are in form of a pair of puffed breeches, reaching to the middle of his thighs, and in this habit (having a blue ribbon spread over the left shoulder, and brought under the right arm, with the George appendant) he proceeds from his lodgings in the castle to the chapter house, where disrobing himself of his upper garment, he is invested with a surcoat of crimson velvet, lined with white taffata, during which time the admonition is given as follows :

Take this robe of crimson to the increase of your honour, and in token or sign of the most noble order you have received, wherewith you being defended, may be bold, not only strong to fight, but also to offer yourself to shed your blood for Christ's faith, the liberties of the Church, and the just and necessary defence of them that are oppressed and needy.

After this, his sword is girt about him over his surcoat, with a belt the same as the coat, and then bearing his cap (in his hand) which is of black velvet adorned with a diamond band, and a plume of white feathers with an heron sprig in the middle, he proceeds to his installation in St. George's chapel, being led between two Knights Companions of the order, to the seat below his stall, where (Garter king of arms having on a crimson velvet cushion, laced and tasseled with gold, brought the mantle, collar, hood, and the book of statutes) laying his right hand on the New Testament, the oath is administered to him in the following manner :

You being chosen to be one of the honourable company of this most noble order of the Garter, shall promise and swear by the Holy Evangelists, by you here touched, that wittingly or willingly you shall not break any statute of the said order, or any articles in them contained, the same being agreeable, and not repugnant, to the laws of Almighty God,

God, and the laws of this realm, as far forth as to you belongeth and appertaineth: so help you God, and his holy word.

As soon as the Knight elect hath taken the oath, he is led to his appointed stall, where he is invested in manner following:

The mantle, which is lined as the furcoat, is of sky-coloured velvet, adorned on the left shoulder with St. George's cross incircled with the Garter, wreathed on the edges with blue and gold; the mantle, being put on him by the two Knights that led him into the choir, is fastened about his neck with a cordon or robe-string, made of the same coloured silk and gold twisted, the ends whereof are made into large knobs or buttons enriched with a caul and fringed; and whilst the ceremony of investiture with the mantle (which is tied upon the right shoulder) is performing, the following admonition is pronounced by the register:

Receive this robe of heavenly colour, the livery of this most excellent order, in augmentation of thy honour, enobled with the shield and red cross of our Lord, by whose power thou mayst safely pierce troops of thy enemies, and be over them ever victorious; and being in this temporal warfare glorious in egregious and heroick actions, thou mayst obtain eternal and triumphant joy.

The Hood, which is of crimson velvet, and lined with white taffata, was formerly worn upon the head; but now the cap taking place, it is laid upon the right shoulder over the mantle, and fastened by the tippet, which comes across his breast, and tucks under his girdle; but this having no ceremony, we proceed to the collar.

The collar, which weighs thirty ounces troy, of gold, was introduced by Henry VIII. and contains twenty-six Garters enamelled, and as many knots, alluding to the sovereign of the order, and his twenty-five companions, and with the roses and mottoes exactly formed and joined, to which is pendant the figure of St. George on horseback, in armour, encountering the dragon with a tilting spear; which medal is of gold, and may be enriched with jewels at the pleasure of the possessor. See plate 2. The collar, with the George, being part of the habit, is put over the mantle and hood (being fastened on each shoulder by a ribbon), with the following ceremony.

Wear this collar about thy neck, adorned with the image of the blessed Martyr and soldier of Christ, St. George, by whose imitation provoked thou mayst so overpass both prosperous and adverse encounters, that having stoutly vanquished thy enemies both of body and soul, thou mayst not only receive the praise of this transient combat, but also, at the last, the endless and everlasting reward of victory.

Then the cap and feathers being put on the head of the elect Knight, his investiture is completed; and after divine service, and several religious ceremonies and offerings at the high altar, they, with trumpets sounding, march to dinner.

About the latter end of the reign of king James the First it was decreed, that the lesser George, which heretofore was daily worn before the breast in a gold chain, should, for the more conveniency of riding or action, be worn appendant at a blue ribbon, spread over the left shoulder, and brought under the right arm; which method still continues; the ribbon and

George

George is worn in time of mourning. The George is of gold, and may be enriched as the former, but is always encompassed with the Garter and motto, which that is not. See plate 5.

In the reign of King Charles II. it was ordained, that the Sovereign and Knights Companions, as also the Prelate and Chancellor, should at all times, and in all places and assemblies, when they were not adorned with their robes, wear upon their left side of their coat, or cloaks, the cross of the order, encompassed with the Garter, and to the said Cross and Garter the said King added a Silver Star of eight points. See plate 2.

For the convenience of travelling, the Knights of the Order were permitted to wear a blue ribbon under their boot, instead of the Garter; but without that and their lesser George and Star, they, by the statutes of the Order, are never to appear in public, except upon the principal feasts of the year, when they wear their collars; and then the ribbon and George is omitted.

At the great solemnity of the installation of a Knight of the Garter, his helmet, crest, sword, banner, and plate, containing his arms and titles, are set over his stall in the chapel of St. George at Windsor, as a mark of honour, and to remain during his being of that order.

No Knight elect ought to be summoned to a Chapter of Election, or is rendered sufficient of giving his vote therein, until he be compleatly installed, either in person, or by proxy.

At

At a Chapter held at White-hall, the 4th of February, 22 Car. II. ordained, that not any of the achievements of an elect Knight, shall be set up in the Chapel at Windsor before he be installed, and the fees of installation paid.

In a Chapter held 1669, 21 Car. II. at White-hall, it was decreed, that the mantle of each Knight Companion, with the Book of Statutes, should be sent to Windsor, immediately after their deaths: and that the Chancellor of the Order should be obliged, by letters to their heirs and executors, to put them in mind of sending them thither. But it is to be understood, that where the mantle has been provided at the Knight's own charge, there is no obligation for returning them*.

PRELATE OF THE GARTER.

THE Prelate is the first and premier officer. His office is as ancient as the institution, and is of great honour, but he has neither salary nor pecuniary fees allowed him; he has apartments allotted in Windsor Castle, and, as often as he goes thither, he is allowed court-livery, for himself and servants, according to the degree of an Earl. This office is vested in the Bishop of Winchester for the time being.

By his oath he is to be present at all chapters whereunto he is summoned; to report all things truly; to take the scrutiny faithfully, and present it to the Sovereign; to keep secret the counsels of the Order; to promote and maintain the honour of it. By his office he takes place in parliament next to the Bishop of Durham.

By a warrant under the signet of the order, dated Feb. 19, 13 Charles II. the prelate had assigned him, for his livery of the order, one robe of purple velvet, containing eighteen yards, and ten yards of white taffaty for lining, as also the arms of St. George within the Garter, having laces, buttons and tassels of purple silk, and Venice gold; he is to wear this robe yearly on the vigil and day of St. George, whether it be in parliament, or any other solemn occasion or festival whatsoever.

The honours conferred on this officer are, that his place in all proceedings and ceremonies of the order is on the right hand of the Chancellor; his arms are impaled with those of his see, surrounded with the Garter.

He hath apartments in the castle of Windsor, situated on the north side, called Winchester Tower; when he is not invested with his robe, he wears a scutcheon of the arms of St. George, but not incircled with pearls and stones.

CHANCELLOR OF THE GARTER.

THIS office is vested in the Bishop of Salisbury for the time being. He is to keep the great seal of the order, and has place and precedence in all proceedings and sessions, next the Prelate; in all places and assemblies is ranked after the Knights, Privy Counsellors, and before the Chancellor of the Exchequer. The statutes allow allow him apartments in Windsor Castle, in the south-west Tower in the lower ward of the castle, called Chancellor's tower.

His oath, robe, and livery, in the Sovereign's court, are the same as the Prelate's. His office is not only to seal original statutes, appointed to remain perpetually in Windsor castle, but also those copies, of which each Knight Companion is obliged to have one, are in his keeping, with letters of licence, mandates and certificates relating to the order.

The Chancellor's badge of distinction is a medal of gold, enamelled with a red rose, within a Garter of blue enamel, with this motto, Honi soit qui mal y pense; and on the reverse thereof, St. George enamelled within the Garter, pendant to a purple ribbon, or gold chain.

REGISTER OF THE GARTER.

THIS officer was one of the three constituted at the first institution of the Order. His mantle is crimson sattin, lined with taffaty, and a scutcheon of St. George's arms, embroidered on the left shoulder, but not incircled with a Garter, having tassels the same as the Prelate and Chancellor.

He has apartments in the castle of Windsor; on his breast a red book of the Order, with this device, two pens in saltire, within the Garter.

G A R T E R.

THE fourth officer of the Order is Garter, instituted by Henry V. with the advice and consent of all the Knights Companions, who for the honour of the Order was pleased he should be the principal Officer within the College of Arms, and chief of the Heralds.

The services enjoined him, relating to the Order, were, in preceding times, performed by the Windsor Herald of Arms, an officer created by king Edward the Third.

His robe is the same as the Register; he wears pendant to a chain a gold medal enamelled with the Sovereign's arms, impaled with the Cross of St. George, surrounded with the Garter, and crowned with an Imperial Crown.

B L A C K R O D.

THE fifth and last Officer is the Black Rod. This Officer was instituted by the founder; according to the institution, he is to be a Gentleman of blood and arms, born within the Sovereign's dominions; and if not a Knight at his admission into the office, he is to be knighted; and, for the honour of the order, he is appointed the chief Usher in the kingdom.

In a chapter held at Whitehall, the 13th of February, 6 Car. I. it was decreed, that the office of the Black Rod should from thenceforth successively, as soon as the same should become void, be annexed to some one of the Gentlemen Ushers, Daily Waiters, whom the Sovereign should appoint.

The oath given to this officer (temp. Hen. VIII.) was, "truly and faithfully to observe and keep all the points of the Statutes of the Order, as to him be"longed and appertained." His mantle is the same as the Register and Garter; it was ordained, that he or his Deputy should carry a Black Rod (whence he hath his titles) before the Sovereign, or his Deputy, at the Feast of St. George, within the Castle of Windsor, and at other solemnities and chapters of the Order, on the top of the Rod there ought to be set a Lion of England. This Rod serves instead of a mace, and has the same authority to apprehend delinquents, and such as have offended against the statutes of the Order. And where he apprehends any one of the Order, as guilty of some crime for which he is to be expelled, the manner of it is, by touching them with this Black Rod; his fee for it is five pound.

He has assigned him a gold badge, to be worn pendant to a chain or ribbon, before his breast; a knot (like those in the Collar of the Order) encompassed with the Garter and Motto, being alike on both sides.

There is a house in Windsor Castle granted to this Officer by Letters Patent, during life. It is situated on the South side of the Castle in the middle ward. By the constitutions he is granted Baron's-service at the church, and livery thereto appertaining.

King Charles the First annexed to this Officer the little Park of Windsor, for ever; and not to be disposed posed of but under the Great Seal of the Order, and that only to the Usher of the Order for the time being.

The INSTALLATION of the KNIGHTS of the GARTER;
held at Windsor on the 25th of July, 1771.

(Taken from PORNY's Elements of Heraldry.)

THE ceremonies observed at the Installation of the Knights of the Order of the Garter; the particulars of which Mr. Porny, who was an eye-witness at the Installation of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, his Royal Highness the Bishop of Osnaburgh, his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, his Serene Highness the Duke of Mecklenburgh, his Serene Highness the Prince of Brunswick, the Duke of Marlborough, the Duke of Grafton, the Earl of Albemarle, and the Earl Gower, in presence of the Sovereign, at Windsor, describes as follows:

The Knights Companions, in the full habit of the Order; the Officers of the Order, in their mantles; the Knights elect, in the under habit of their Order, having their caps and feathers in their hands; and the proxies, in their ordinary habit, attended the Sovereign in the royal apartment; the Officers of Arms being in the presence-chamber, the Canons and poor Knights in the guard-chamber.

The proxies not going in the procession, retired before it began, to their chairs, at the back of the altar.

About eleven o'clock the procession began to move, being called over in the following order by Garter.

The SOVEREIGN,
in the habit of the Order,
his train borne by two Dukes eldest sons,
and the Master of the Robes.

The band of Gentlemen Pensioners.

In this manner, proceeding to the chapel, they entered at the South door, passed down the South aisle, and up the North aisle, to the Chapter-house, the poor Knights, Canons, and Officers of Arms, dividing on either side, for the procession to pass; the Knights elect retiring to their chairs in the aisle behind the altar, the Knights Companions and the Officers of the Order only entering into the Chapter-house with the Sovereign.

The Sovereign and Knights Companions being seated, Garter was commanded to introduce his Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, who was received at the Chapter-house door by the two junior Knights Companions, and conducted to the table, where the surcoat, girdle, and sword had been placed; and Garter presenting the surcoat to the two senior Knights, they invested his Royal Highness therewith, the Chancellor reading the admonition.

The Garter presented the girdle and sword; which were put on.

His Royal Highness the Bishop of Osnabruck, and his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, were then severally introduced, and invested in like manner.

Then the proxy for his Serene Highness the Duke of Mecklenburgh was introduced, and afterwards the proxy for his Serene Highness the Prince of Brunswick.

Garter then introduced the Earl of Albemarle, who was received at the Chapter-house door by the two junior Knights Companions, and invested as before, the Register reading the admonition.

Then the Duke of Marlborough, the Duke of Grafton, and Earl Gower, were severally introduced, and invested, as the Earl of Albemarle had been.

The Knights elect continued in the Chapter-house while the procession to the chapel was made, and the achievements of the deceased Knights were offered; the procession passing down to the West end of the aisle, and up the middle aisle into the choir, in the following order:

First, the Poor Knights; who, coming into the choir, made their reverences all together; and placed themselves on each side, near the altar.

The Canons, making their reverence in like manner, went to their seats, under the stalls.

The Officers of Arms, making their reverences, stood next the Poor Knights.

The Knights Companions, in the order they walked, made their reverences; and retired under their banners.

The Register, Garter, and Black Rod, made their reverences together; and stood before their form.

The Chancellor did the like.

The Sovereign made one reverence to the altar; and, being in his stall, repeated the same, the train-bearers standing upon the steps going up to the stall; the sword of state, with the Vice Chamberlain, on the steps before, or rather under the Sovereign's stall.

The

The two officiating Canons were conducted to the altar by the Verger.

The Garter, with the usual reverences, taking up the banner of the late Duke of Cumberland, and holding it up, two Officers of Arms immediately joined, and making their reverences repaired to his Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester and the Duke of Kingston, being the two senior Knights; who thereupon joining, and making their reverences together, received the banner from Garter; and, being preceded by the two Heralds, advanced to the first step, where they repeated their reverences; and, coming to the rails, made one to the altar: then kneeling, they delivered the banner to the Canons, who placed it upright, at the south end of the altar.

The sword was then delivered to Garter, and offered in like manner; and then the helmet and crest; the Knights retiring under their banners.

The atchievement of the late Duke of York was offered in the same manner.

The swords of the other deceased Knights; viz. the Duke of Dorset, Duke of Newcastle, Duke of Bedford, Earl Granville, Earl of Winchelsea, Duke of Devonshire, and Earl Waldegrave, were then offered together, by the two next Knights in rotation.

Garter then summoned the Knights to ascend into their stalls.

All the Knights being in their stalls, the two seniors were summoned down to instal the Prince of Wales; and they proceeded to the Chapter house in the following order:

Poor Knights.

Officers of Arms.

The Register. Garter. Black Rod.

The Chancellor.

The two senior Knights.

And from the Chapter-house his Royal Highness was conducted to the chapel in the order as follows; viz.

Poor Knights.

Officers of Arms.

Black Rod. Garter; The Register.

and Book of Statutes.

in his surcoat and sword, carrying his cap and feather in his hand.

All entering the choir, with the usual reverences, Garter placed the cushion upon the desk.

The two Knights conducted his Royal Highness into his stall (the Sovereign having dispensed with his taking the oath, by reason of his tender years), and Garter delivering the mantle to the Knights, they invested the Prince therewith, the Chancellor reading the admonition.

Then Garter presented the Hood to the Knights, and afterwards the Collar and George; and the Knights invested the Prince, the Chancellor reading the admonition.

Garter

Garter next presented the statute-book, which the Knights delivered to the Prince; and then placing the Cap and Feather on his head, they seated him in his stall; and the Prince, rising up, made his double reverences; and the Knights, after embracing and congratulating his Royal Highness, descended, made their reverences, and went up into their stalls, and the officers to their places.

His Royal Highness the Bishop of Osnabruck was then introduced, and installed by two senior Knights, in the same manner as the Prince of Wales had been.

The two senior Knights likewise installed his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, who being introduced with the usual reverences, they entered into the lower stall, where the Register administered the Oath to his Royal Highness, Black Rod holding the Book.

Then the Knights conducted his Royal Highness into the upper stall, the Chancellor and Garter entering into the lower stall, the Register and Black Rod remaining in the area.

Garter then presented the Mantle, Hood, and Collar, with which his Royal Highness was invested, the Chancellor reading the admonition: and then the statute-book was delivered; and he was installed with the same ceremony as before mentioned.

Then the two next Knights in seniority were summoned to install Sir Charles Frederick, the proxy for his Serene Highness the Duke of Mecklenburgh, who was conducted into the lower stall, where the Oath was administered to him under the reservations stipulated: he was then conducted into the upper stall; and the mantle being presented by Garter, the Knights put it over his arm, so that the Garter thereon appeared; he was then seated in the stall, as the Knights had been; and, during the rest of the ceremony, stood up, or leaned on the cushion, a proxy not being allowed to sit in the stall.

Sir John Griffin Griffin, the proxy for his Serene Highness the Prince of Brunswick, was then installed in the same manner.

The Earl of Albemarle was then brought in, and installed in the same manner as the Duke of Cumberland, except the attendance of the Chancellor, the Register pronouncing the admonition.

In like manner the Duke of Marlborough, the Duke of Grafton, and Earl Gower, were severally introduced and installed.

Divine service then began; and at the words of the Offertory, Let your light so shine, the organ playing, the officers of the wardrobe spread a carpet on the steps before the altar; and Black Rod, making his obeisances, went up to the rail of the altar on the right side, where he received from the Yeomen of the wardrobe a rich carpet and cushion, which, with the assistance of the Yeoman, he laid down for the Sovereign to kneel upon.

In the mean time Garter summoned the Knights from their stalls; and being all under their banners,

The Sovereign, making one reverence to the altar, descended from his stall; and then, making another reverence, proceeded to the Offering in the following Order.

Garter and the Register.

The Chancellor.

Vice Chamberlain with the Sword of State.

The SOVEREIGN,
his train borne as before.

As the procession passed, the Duke of Kingston (being the senior Knight, not of the Royal Family) making his reverence, placed himself a little behind his Majesty, on the right side, and coming against the stall of the Earl of Hertford, Lord Chamberlain, he came from under his banner, going a little behind the Sovereign on the left side. The Sovereign coming to the rail of the altar, Black Rod delivered the offering on his knee to the Duke of Kingston, who presented it to the Sovereign; and his Majesty, taking off his cap, and kneeling, put the offering into the basin; then rising, his Majesty made his reverence to the altar, another in the middle of the choir (all the attendants turning as his Majesty did, and making their reverence at the same time), and being in his stall, another; the Lord Chamberlain, and the Knight who delivered the offering, retiring under their banners, when they came opposite to them.

During the Sovereign's return, the Officers of the wardrobe removed the carpet and cushion whereon his Majesty had kneeled, leaving the first carpet and two cushions for the Knights; and Black Rod returning to his place,

All the Knights thus standing under their banners, two Officers of Arms joined, with usual reverences, and went to his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, who thereupon making his reverences in the middle of the choir, was conducted to the altar, and made his offering; and returning in the same order, went into his stall, where making his reverence, he sat down.

Then the next Knight, or Knights, in seniority, being companions, offered in like manner; and so on till all the Knights and proxies had offered.

Divine service being ended, Garter summoned the Knights under their banners, juniors first; which done, the Poor Knights made their reverences, and went out of the choir; then the Canons, then the Officers of Arms, then the Knights, then the Officers of the Order, then the sword of state, and the Sovereign as before; thus proceeding to the great West door of the Chapel, and up the South aisle, out at the South door, to the upper court of the Castle; but the proxies went in procession no farther than the South door of the Chapel, where the mantles were delivered to the Sextons.

The Drums and Trumpets halted at the foot of the stairs; the Poor Knights fell off on either side in the Guard Chamber; the Officers of Arms in the Presence Chamber; the Knights Companions divided on either side above them; the Sovereign, having the Officers before him, went under the state, where he saluted the Knights, by pulling off his cap and feathers; and then retired till dinner-time.

KNIGHTS BANNERETS

The first banneret was knighted by King Henry the Fifth in the year 1415, and he was knighted on the field of Agincourt. The banneret is a knight who is entitled to ride in the van of an army, and he is entitled to carry a banner. The banneret is a knight who is entitled to ride in the van of an army, and he is entitled to carry a banner. KNIGHTS BANNERETS

The second banneret was knighted by King Henry the Fifth in the year 1415, and he was knighted on the field of Agincourt. The banneret is a knight who is entitled to ride in the van of an army, and he is entitled to carry a banner. The banneret is a knight who is entitled to ride in the van of an army, and he is entitled to carry a banner. The banneret is a knight who is entitled to ride in the van of an army, and he is entitled to carry a banner.

KNIGHTS BANNERETS.

THIS Order is certainly honourable, because conferred upon some heroick action performed in the field. Selden says, the first account of this dignity of honour is in the reign of Edward the First, in the account of his Wardrobe.

That Knights Bannerets were next to Barons in dignity appears by the statute made in the fifth year of King Richard II. Stat. 2. Chap. 4. by which statute, such Bannerets were anciently called by summons to Parliament; they still continue the next degree to the nobility, are allowed to bear Arms with supporters; they take place of Baronets, and anciently had Knights Batchelors and Esquires to serve under them.

King Charles I. did, by his letters patents, ordain that the wives of Bannerets and their heirs male should have the precedency as well after as before the deaths of their husbands, if they should happen to survive, before the wives of all those of whom the Knights Baronets and their heirs male had the precedency, and even before the wives of Knights Baronets*.

Bannerets have no particular badge worn on their Garments, but in England their arms are painted on a banner placed in the paws of the supporters to their arms.

The ceremony of their creation is thus: The King, or his General, at the head of his army, drawn up in order of battle after a victory, under the royal standard displayed, attended by all the officers and nobility present, receives the Knight, led between two Knights, carrying his pennon of arms in his hand, the Heralds walking before him, who proclaim his valiant achievements, for which he has deserved to be made a Knight Banneret, and to display his banner in the field; then the King or the General says to him, Advances toy Banneret, and causes the point of his pennon to be rent off; then the new Knight, having the trumpets before him founding, the nobility and officers bearing him company, is sent back to his tent, where they are all entertained.

* Chamberlayne's Present State of Great Britain.

The words the Herald says to the King or his General, upon presenting the Knight, are these;

“ May it please your Grace to understand, that this “ Gentleman hath shewed himself valiant in the field,
 “ and for so doing deserveth to be advanced to the de“ gree of a Knight Banneret, as worthy from hence“ forth to bear a banner in the war.”

The Heralds that conducted him were to receive for their fees three pounds six shillings and eight pence; and if he was before a Knight Batchelor, then he was to pay to the trumpets twenty shillings.

In the year 1773, at a review of the Royal Navy at Portsmouth, his Majesty was graciously pleased to confer the honour of Knights Banneret, on the following flag officers and commanders under the royal standard, who kneeling, kissed hands upon the occasion; viz. Admirals, Pye and Spry; Captains, Knight, Bickerton, and Vernon.

ORDER OF THE BATH.

GEORGE, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, &c. To all, to whom these presents shall come, greeting. Whereas our Royal Predecessors, upon divers wise and honourable considerations, have, on occasion of certain august solemnities, conferred, with great state, upon their Royal Issue male, the Princes of the Blood Royal, several of their Nobility, Principal Officers, and other Persons distinguished by their birth, quality, and personal merit, that degree of Knighthood which hath been denominated The Knighthood of the Bath; We, being moved by the same considerations, do hereby declare our Royal intention, not only to re-establish and support the said honour of Knighthood in its former lustre and dignity, but to erect the same into a regular Military Order: and accordingly, of our especial grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion, and by virtue of our Royal Prerogative, being the fountain of honour, we have instituted, erected, constituted, and created, and by these our letters patents do institute, erect, constitute, and create, a Military Order of Knighthood, to be, and be called for ever hereafter by the name and title of The Order of the Bath; whereof we, our heirs and successors, Kings of this realm, for ever shall be Sovereigns; reigns; which said Order shall consist of a Great Master, to continue during the pleasure of us, our heirs, or successors, and thirty-six companions, to be from time to time nominated and appointed by us, our heirs or successors, wherein a succession shall be always regularly continued: which said Order shall be governed by statutes and ordinances, to be from time to time made, ordained, altered, and abrogated, by us, our heirs and successors, at our and their pleasure. And to the end that such statutes may be legally established, we, following the example of our royal predecessor King Edward the Third, of glorious memory, founder of the most noble Order of the Garter, who gave sanction to the statutes of that order, by affixing to them the seal, which had been by his command made and appointed for the same Order, do hereby direct and appoint, that a seal shall be immediately engraven, having upon one side the representation of our royal Person on horseback in armour, the shield Azure, three Imperial crowns Or, the arms usually ascribed to the renowned King Arthur, with this circumscription, Sigillum Honoratissimi Ordinis Militaris de Balneo; and on the reverse the same arms empaling our royal arms: and our Royal will and pleasure is, that the said seal shall for ever hereafter be the seal of the said Order of the Bath; and that the statutes, to be perpetually and inviolably observed within the said Order, shall be established, and sealed by and with the same seal. And we do hereby, for us, our heirs and successors, declare and ordain, that the said statutes, so to be given by us, our heirs or successors, to which the said seal shall be affixed, shall be of the same force and validity, as if the same statutes, and every article of them, had been verbatim recited in these our letters patents, and had been passed under the great seal of this our realm. And further we do hereby ordain, constitute, nominate, and appoint, our right trusty and right entirely-beloved cousin John Duke of Montagu to be the first Great Master of the said Order, to hold the said office during our pleasure, with such powers, privileges, and emoluments, and subject to such regulations, as shall be for that purpose appointed in the statutes to be established by us, our heirs or successors, as aforesaid. And whereas it is absolutely necessary for the dignity and service of this order, that there should be Officers peculiarly appropriated thereto, we do by these presents, for us, our heirs and successors, will and ordain, that there shall be for ever hereafter a Dean, Register, King of Arms, Genealogist, Secretary, Usher, and Messenger, of and belonging to the said Order, whose respective duties, privileges, emoluments, and perquisites, shall be particularly expressed and declared in the said statutes. And we do hereby, for us, our heirs and successors, constitute, create, and appoint, the Dean of the Collegiate Church of St. Peter's, Westminster, for the time being, to be for ever hereafter Dean of the said Order; and do for us, our heirs and successors, give and grant full power and authority to the Great Master of the said Order, for the time being, to constitute, nominate, and appoint, under the seal hereby appointed for the said Order, a Register, King of Arms, Genealogist, Secretary, Usher, and Messenger, of the said Order; and from time to time to fill up the places of such Officers upon vacancies, according to such rules and directions as shall for that purpose be laid down and expressed in the said statutes to be given as aforesaid. And to the end that the respective fees, to be paid to the several Officers of the said Order of the Bath, by such persons as shall be nominated unto, and accept the honour of a companion of the said Order, may be certain and fixed; we do by these presents, for us, our heirs and successors, will and declare, that all such fees shall be specially and particularly ascertained and established in and by the statutes to be given and ordained to and for the said Order, by us, our heirs or successors, under the seal hereby appointed for the said Order, and shall be of the like force and effect as if the same had been particularly expressed and set forth in these our letters patents. And lastly, we do hereby, for us, our heirs and successors, grant, that these our letters patents, or the enrolment or exemplification thereof, shall be, in and by all things, good, firm, valid, sufficient, and effectual in the law, according to the true intent and meaning thereof, any omission, imperfection, defect, matter, cause, or thing, whatsoever, to the contrary thereof in any wise notwithstanding. In witness whereof, we have caused these our letters to be made patents.

Witness ourself at Westminster, the eighteenth day of May, in the eleventh year of our reign.

By writ of Privy Seal,

BISSE and BRAY,

GEORGE

GEORGE R.

GEORGE, by the grace of God, King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. and Sovereign of the most honourable Order of the Bath, To all, to whom these presents shall come, Greeting. Whereas we are resolved to advance the honour and splendour of the most honourable Order of the Bath; we, by virtue of our royal prerogative, and in consequence of the power reserved to us in the statutes, do hereby ordain and enjoin, That the following articles and explanations are, and shall be always, deemed to be part and parcel of the statutes to be perpetually observed.

First, It is our royal pleasure, and we hereby enjoin, That the Master of our jewel-house for the time being shall, upon the warrant of the Great Master of this Order, provide for every Companion that is, or shall be, elected into this Order, a collar of gold of thirty ounces troy weight; which collar shall be composed of several imperial crowns of gold, tied or linked with gold knots enamelled white, representing the white laces mentioned in the antient ceremonials of conferring the Knighthood of the Bath; which said collar having the badge or symbol of this Order thereto pendent, the Companions are and shall be obliged to wear upon all festivals, processions of installations, and other ceremonies relating to this Order, and also in presence of us, our heirs and successors, upon such other feasts usually termed Collar days, when the Knights of our most noble Order of the Garter attend our royal person invested with their collars; and that the said collar may for the future be represented upon pictures, limnings, sculptures, and monuments, of these Companions; which collar shall not be alienated for any cause whatever; but the executors, or administrators, of every deceased Companion, shall return the same within three months to the Great Master of this Order.

Secondly, We likewise hereby declare it to be our royal pleasure, that the banner, which shall be placed over the stall of each Companion of this Order, shall be two yards in length, and one yard three quarters in breadth, fringed about with red and white silk; and that, in the lowest margin, the name and title of the companion shall be inscribed with letters of gold, upon a black ground; and that the crest, helmet, and sword, shall likewise be affixed to the stall of every Knight, and be removed in like manner as the plates, according to the fourteenth article of the statutes: and that, after the deaths of the Companions, these banners, crests, helmets, and swords, (being first offered in solemn manner) shall then be hung up about the pillars, or in some other convenient place, towards the west end of the Abbey-church of Westminster, to remain to posterity, for the memorial of the deceased Knights, as a public testimony of their honour. And we hereby direct, that the banner of our royal arms, being two yards and a half long, and two yards in breadth, shall be embroidered upon velvet, which, with our crest, helmet, and sword, shall be hung over our stall.

Thirdly, Whereas some persons may be elected into this order, who, by reason of our employments in the service

service of the Crown, by sickness, or other unforeseen accidents, may be necessarily prevented from attending their installations in person, within the time limited; we hereby decree, that such persons, having actually received the honour of Knighthood, and a dispensation for the non-observance of any rites belonging to the Knighthood of the Bath, and having also obtained permission under the seal of the Order, shall and may substitute and appoint a person of honour, being a Knight, to be his proxy or deputy, to be installed for him; which deputy, having the mantle upon his right arm, shall proceed, from the door of the Chapter-house, unto the stall of his principal, and shall there be installed in the manner directed by the statutes, holding the mantle on his arm, and shall take the oath in the name of the Companion: and such Companion shall thereby be as fully invested with the said Order, as if he had been installed in person, in the manner before mentioned in the eighth article.

Fourthly, We hereby ordain and enjoin, that over and above the fees determined by these our statutes, every person elected, or to be elected, into this most honourable Order, shall also regularly pay all such other fees, as have been settled by our royal predecessors, by grants under the great seal, upon the reception of the Knighthood of the Bath; and until all fees are fully and actually discharged, no banner, helmet, sword, or plate, of any Companion of this Order, shall be set up, or permitted to remain, in the chapel of King Henry the Seventh.

in the eleventh year of our reign.

GEORGE R.

GEORGE, by the grace of God, King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. and Sovereign of the most honourable Order of the Bath, to all persons, to whom these presents shall come, greeting. Whereas we are firmly resolved, according to our former declarations, to support and advance the honour, dignity, and splendour, of this most honourable Order; we, by virtue of our prerogative, and in consequence of the power reserved and vested in us by our letters patent, under our great seal, do hereby ordain and enjoin, that the following articles, additions, and explanations, are, and for the future shall be taken and deemed to be, part and parcel of the statutes to be inviolably and perpetually observed within this most honourable Order.

First, Whereas we declared our royal pleasure, that the Companions of this our most honourable Order of the Bath should be obliged to wear their collars upon all festivals, processions, installations, and other ceremonies relating to this Order, and also in presence of us, our heirs and successors, upon such other feasts, usually termed Collar days, when the Knights of our most noble Order of the Garter attend our royal person invested with their collars; in consideration of this our former direction and injunction, we hereby decree, determine, and ordain, that upon all such Collar days the Knights Companions of this our most honourable Order of the Bath, for the time being, shall have and enjoy the privilege of waiting upon the royal person of us, our heirs and successors, in all processions to, and returns from, the royal chapel, in a separate class by themselves, going two in breast when the companions are fellows, otherwise single, according to the situation of their respective stalls; and shall thus place and range themselves next to, and immediately below Privy Counsellors; with permission however to such Companions who are, or shall hereafter be, entitled to an higher precedence, by their peerages, offices, or the eminencies of their births, to place and range themselves, in such processions, according to the respective state or degree due to them by virtue thereof.

Secondly, Whereas the Great Master of our said most honourable Order of the Bath, in pursuance of our letters patent under our great seal, did constitute a Genealogist, create a King of Arms, and appoint a Gentleman-Usher; and we, for the dignity of the said Order, being resolved to invest these three officers with larger powers than are contained in our former statutes, do therefore, of our certain knowledge, mere motion, and especial grace, hereby for us, our heirs and successors, make, ordain, constitute, erect, and appoint, our trusty and well-beloved servant John Anstis, jun. esq. the present Genealogist of this our most honourable Order of the Bath, our Herald of Arms, with our dear entirely-beloved grandson Prince William, first and principal Companion of our said most honourable Order, and with the first and principal Companion thereof for the time being, by the style and title of Blanc Courfier; and by these presents do appoint, commission, empower, and direct, the Great Master of our said Order, for us, and in our name, and by our authority, to signify to our Attorney or Solicitor-general, our royal will and command under the seal of our said Order, forthwith to prepare a bill for our royal signature to pass under our great seal, containing our grant to the said John Anstis, jun. of the aforesaid office of Blanc Courfier, in the manner above specified, with that title, and all rights, privileges, and immunities, heretofore enjoyed by any Herald of our predecessors, or of any of them, under any denomination whatsoever, with any Prince of the Blood Royal, or by any other Herald of any Prince, Duke, or Earl, of the Blood Royal, or by any other Herald of any Nobleman whatever; to have and to hold the said office of Blanc Courfier, during his good behaviour, with all rights thereto appertaining, with the yearly salary of forty marks, payable out of the Exchequer of us, our heirs and successors, as other our Heralds now receive; in which said bill our royal pleasure is, that a clause be inserted, declaring, that, for the honour of our said Order, this office of Blanc Courfier our Herald shall for the future be inseparably annexed, united, and perpetually consolidated, with the office of Genealogist of our said most honourable Order of the Bath. And we hereby also, of our certain knowledge, mere motion, and especial grace, do for us, our heirs and successors, erect, make, constitute, and ordain, our trusty and well-beloved servant Grey Longueville, Esq. Bath King of Arms of our most honourable military Order of the Bath, Gloucester King of Arms and principal Herald of the parts of Wales; which said office of Gloucester is now vacant, and in our disposal: and we do appoint and direct the Great Master of this our Order, for us, and in our name, and by our authority, to signify to our Attorney or Solicitor-general our royal will and command, under the seal of our said Order, immediately to prepare a bill for our royal signature to pass our great seal, containing our grant of the said office of Gloucester, in the manner above specified, to the said Grey Longueville, Bath King of Arms of our most honourable military Order of the Bath, with all rights, privileges, and immunities, thereunto belonging; to have and to hold the same, during his good behaviour, in as full and ample manner as Richard Champney, or any other, ever had, or ought to have enjoyed the same, with the yearly salary of forty pounds payable out of the Exchequer of us, our heirs and successors, as other our provincial King of Arms are entitled to receive; in which said bill our royal will and pleasure is, that there shall be clauses inserted, empowering the said Gloucester to grant arms and crests to persons residing within our dominions of Wales, either jointly with our Garter principal King of Arms, or singly by himself, with the consent, and at the pleasure, of our Earl Marshal, or his deputy, for the time being; and that for the future this office of Gloucester shall be inseparably annexed, united, and perpetually consolidated, with the office of Bath King of Arms of the most honourable military Order of the Bath and Gloucester King of Arms, and principal Herald of the parts of Wales; and which said Bath King of Arms, for the dignity of this most honourable Order, shall in all assemblies, and at all times, have and take the place and precedency above and before all other provincial Kings of Arms whatever. And we likewise, of our certain knowledge, mere motion, and especial grace, do hereby for us, our heirs and successors, make, ordain, constitute, erect, and appoint, our trusty and well-beloved servant Edmond Sawyer, Esq. Gentleman-Usher of the Scarlet Rod of our most honourable Order of the Bath, our Herald of Arms, with the Great Master of our said Order for the time being, by the style and title of Brunswick: and by these presents we do appoint, empower, and direct, the Great Master

Master of our said Order, for us, and in our name, and by our authority, to signify to our Attorney or Solicitor-general, under the seal of our said Order, our royal pleasure and command forthwith to prepare a bill for our royal signature to pass under great seal, containing our grant to the said Edmond Sawyer of the office of Brunswick in the manner before specified, with that title, and all rights, privileges, and immunities, heretofore enjoyed by any Herald of our predecessors, or of any of them under any denomination whatsoever, with any Duke, or other Nobleman, or by any Herald of any Duke, or other Nobleman, to have and to hold the said office of Brunswick during his good behaviour, with all rights thereto belonging, with the like yearly salary of forty marks, payable out of the exchequer of us, our heirs and successors, as other our heralds now receive; in which said bill our royal pleasure is, that a clause be inserted, declaring, that, for the honour of our said Order, this office of Brunswick Herald shall for the future be inseparably annexed, united, and perpetually consolidated, with the office of Gentleman-Usher of the Scarlet Rod of our said most honourable Order of the Bath: and that in these several bills all such other proper and beneficial clauses shall be recited, as our Attorney or Solicitor-general shall judge fit and convenient for making these our separate grants most firm, valid, and effectual in the law. And our will and pleasure being, that these three officers shall be formally and regularly created with the ceremonies accustomed in those respective cases, we hereby empower, appoint, and direct, the Great Master of our

faid most honourable Order of the Bath, for us, and in our name, and by our authority, to signify, under the seal of our said Order, our royal will and command, to our Earl Marshal of England, or his deputy, to create the said John Anstis, jun. the Genealogist of our most honourable Order of the Bath, to be Blanc Courfier Herald; Grey Longueville, Bath, to be Hanover Herald; and, as soon as that rite is finished, to create him Gloucester King of Arms, and Edmond Sawyer to be Brunswick Herald, with the due solemnities required on such occasions.

And we hereby decree and ordain, that all the officers of this most honourable Order of the Bath shall have liberty, at all times and in all places, to wear their respective Escutcheons appropriated to them separately by the statutes; and that, for the future, the Genealogist, being created an Herald, shall upon one side of his escutcheon bear the impression of the white horse richly enamelled thereon; Bath, being created Gloucester, upon one side of his escutcheon shall bear the arms of Hanover; and the Gentleman-Usher, being created Brunswick, shall bear upon one side of his escutcheon the impression of Charlemagne's crown: for which purposes the Great Master of our said Order is to issue his warrant to the officers of our Jewel-House for the enamelling thereof.

Given under our sign manual, this fourteenth day of January, 1725.

GEORGE

GEORGE R.

GEORGE, by the grace of God, King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, defender of the Faith, &c. and Sovereign of the most honourable military Order of the Bath, to all, to whom these presents shall come, greeting. Whereas we are resolved to advance the honour of the most honourable military Order of the Bath, we by virtue of our royal prerogative, and in consequence of the power reserved to us in the statutes, do hereby ordain and enjoin, that the following articles and explanations are, and shall be always deemed to be, part and parcel of the statutes to be perpetually observed.

First, Whereas, in case a war should happen in Europe, we are determined that this realm should be in a posture of defence against the attempts of our enemies, we do hereby declare, ordain, create, constitute, and establish, that always, from henceforth, every companion of the said most honourable military Order of the Bath, in case of any danger of invasion from foreign enemies, or a rebellion at home, whenever they shall be summoned by the Great Master, under the seal of the Order, in the Sovereign's name, shall maintain, at his own proper cost and charge, four men at arms, and the Great Master shall maintain four trumpeters, for any number of days the Sovereign shall think proper, not exceeding forty two days in any one year; and shall allow to each man at arms two shillings a day, for himself and horse, during the said term of forty-two days;
after

after which term of forty-two days, if the said men at arms shall be continued in service, they, and their officers, shall be paid in the same manner as all other the horse of our armies of Great Britain are paid.

Secondly, That the said men at arms shall serve within any part of the realm which the Sovereign shall think proper, but not out of Great Britain.

Thirdly, That the Great Master of our said Order is, and always shall be, Captain and Commander in chief of the said men at arms.

Fourthly, That the Great Master of our said Order shall always appoint, under the seal of the Order, the following officers, to lead and command the said men at arms: that is, one captain-lieutenant, who shall receive the daily pay of eight of the said men at arms; one lieutenant, who shall receive the daily pay of seven of the said men at arms; one sub-lieutenant, who shall receive the daily pay of six of the said men at arms; one ensign, who shall receive the daily pay of four of the said men at arms; one guidon, who shall receive the daily pay of four of the said men at arms; and three quarter-masters, who shall receive, amongst them all, the daily pay of six of the said men at arms: that three of every four of the said men at arms to be so paid by each of the said Companions of the Order, and the four trumpeters to be paid by the Great Master, shall be clothed in scarlet cloth coats and waist-coats, with brass buttons, having the arms of the Order embroidered upon their right sleeve; that they shall each of them have a hat laced with gold lace, a blue cloak, a good and able horse, with a bit-bridle, saddle, saddle, holsters, and bucket, cloak-straps, pectoral and crupper, and a housing of blue cloth, edged with gold lace, with the arms of the Order embroidered in the corners of the housing, and a skin fixed to the pommel of the saddle to cover the pistols; the whole at the sole charge of the companion who is to pay the said men at arms.

Fifthly, That each of the said men at arms shall be armed with a carbine, a case of pistols, a broad sword, an iron back and breast, and an iron scull-cap; and the officers of the said men at arms shall each of them be armed with a case of pistols, a broad sword, an iron back and breast, and an iron scull-cap; the whole at the charge of the Sovereign of the Order; for which purpose the Great Master of our said Order is to issue his warrant to the officers of our ordnance to provide the said Arms.

Sixthly, That from henceforth there shall always be a standard of the said Order, which shall be borne by the said men at arms; which standard shall be of blue silk, edged with a gold fringe, with the arms of the Order embroidered on each side of the said standard: for which purpose the Great Master of our said Order is to issue his warrant to the Great Master of our wardrobe to provide the said standard.

Seventhly, That whenever the Companions of the said Order shall be summoned to furnish the said men at arms, the said Companions shall agree upon and appoint a proper person to be their treasurer for the payment of the said men at arms, and their officers; and the Companions shall pay into the hands of the said treasurer surer the forty two days pay for the four men at Arms to be provided and paid by each companion, for which the said treasurer is to be accountable to the said companions.

Eighthly, That in case, when any person shall be admitted a Knight Companion of the said most honourable military Order of the Bath, the Great Master of our said Order should, by sickness, or otherwise, be prevented from officiating in person for the admission of the said Companion; then and in such case the said Great Master shall have the liberty of appointing, under the seal of the Order, one of the Companions of the said Order to act as his deputy; and in case the Great Master shall not appoint such a deputy, then shall the eldest Companion of the Order present officiate as Great Master, nevertheless to be accountable to the Great Master for all fees and profits of the Order.

outside.

The Alms-men entered the chapel ; and having made joint reverences, first to the altar, and then to the Sovereign's stall, passing six on each side of King Henry the Seventh's tomb, to the recesses of the windows ;

The Messenger, with like reverences, placed himself between the altar and the stall of the junior Knights.

The Esquires made like reverences together in the middle of the choir, and stood before their respective seats.

The Prebendaries, after like reverences, went within the rails of the altar.

The Officers of Arms made like reverences together, in the middle of the choir, and stood near the foot of the Prince's stall.

The Proxies, Knights Elect, and Knights Companions, made their double reverences singly or in pairs, according to the method observed in the procession, and retired under their respective banners, the Knights Companions being covered.

The Register, Secretary, and Usher, made their double reverences in the middle of the choir, and stood before their bench at the foot of the Sovereign's stall.

Garter, Genealogist, and Bath, did the same, and stood before their bench.

The Dean did the same, and stood before his chair.

His Royal Highness Prince Frederick, Great Master, having made his double reverences, stood under his banner covered.

The doors of the chapel were then closed, and the Yeomen remained on the outside.

The

The anthem being ended, Bath King of Arms made his double reverences in the middle of the choir, and then bowed to his Royal Highness Prince Frederick, who thereupon made his double reverences under his banner, ascended into his stall, repeated his reverences, and sat down covered.

Bath then bowed to Sir George Pocock singly (his Companion not being present), who thereupon made his double reverences, ascended into his stall, repeated his reverences, and sat down covered.

Bath then bowed to Lord Amberst and Sir John Griffin Griffin, Companions, who made their double reverences, ascended their stalls, repeated their reverences, and sat down covered.

In this manner all the Knights Companions took their stalls, except the two juniors, Sir William Lynch and Sir Charles Thompson, who remained under their banners to offer the achievement of the deceased Knights.

The Knights Elect and Proxies also remained under their banners.

Then Bath, taking up the banner of the late Earl of Inchiquin, senior deceased Knight, proceeded to the middle of the choir, where being joined by Clarencieux King of Arms and Richmond Herald, acting for Norroy King of Arms, making their double reverences, he bowed to his Royal Highness Prince Frederick, as Great Master.

His Royal Highness thereupon descended from his stall, and, making his double reverences, received the banner from Bath; and being supported by Clarencieux and Richmond, carried it, with the point forwards, to the altar, where, with one reverence, he delivered it the Prebendaries, and on the return, making double reverences in the middle of the choir, was re-conducted to his stall by Clarencieux and Richmond; and his Royal Highness sat down covered. The organ and other instruments accompanied this part of the ceremony with the dead march in the oratorio of Saul.

Bath then took up the banner of the late Viscount Fitzwilliam, the next senior deceased Knight; and standing between the door of the chapel and the middle of the choir, bowed to the two junior Knights Companions, who, making their double reverences, received the banner from Bath; and being preceded by two Heralds, carried it between them to the altar, delivered it to the Prebendaries, and, making the usual reverences, returned to Bath.

The banners of all the other deceased Knights, viz. Sir Thomas Whitmore, the Earl of Mexborough, Lord Onslow, Lord Carysford, Sir James Grey, Sir William Beauchamp Proctor, Sir John Gibbons, Sir Charles Saunders, Lord Clive, Sir John Moore, and Sir Charles Montagu, were offered in like manner by the two junior Knights Companions, preceded by two Heralds; which being done, they ascended into their stalls, making the usual reverences, and sat down covered.

Then Bath bowed to Sir Hew Dalrymble, proxy for Sir James Adolphus Oughton, senior Knight elect, who thereupon made his double reverences, ascended into his stall, and stood therein, holding his hat in his hand.

Then

Then Bath bowed to Sir Robert Gunning and Sir George Howard, who made their double reverences together, ascended to their stalls, and stood therein with their hats and feathers in their hands,

In this manner all the Knights Elect and Proxies ascended to their stalls,

Then Bath, carrying the book of the statutes and the great Collar of the Order on a cushion, having the Usher on his left hand, and being followed by the Dean, proceeded to the middle of the choir, where they made their reverences together.

His Royal Highness Prince Frederick then made his double reverences, descended from his stall, and, being followed by the Dean, entered into that of Sir James Adolphus Oughton, where receiving the book of statutes from Bath, his Royal Highness presented it to Sir Hew Dalrymple, proxy for Sir James, and the Dean administered the oath; viz. You shall honour God, above all things; you shall be stedfast in the Faith of Christ; you shall love the King your Sovereign Lord, and him and his right defend to your power: you shall defend Maidens, Widows, and Orphans, in their rights; and shall suffer no extortion, as far as you may prevent it; and of as great honour be this Order unto you, as ever it was to any of your progenitors or others. Statute of the Order, page twenty-two.

His Royal Highness then placed him in the seat of his principal, whereupon he rose up, and made his double reverences; then his Royal Highness having saluted him, returned with Bath, the Usher, and Dean, to the middle of the choir, and the proxy sat down uncovered.

His Royal Highness next proceeded to the stall of Sir Robert Gunning, and receiving the book of the statutes from Bath, presented it to the Knight, and the Dean administered the oath; then the collar being delivered to his Royal Highness, he invested the Knight therewith, put the hat and feathers on his head, and placed him in his seat, who thereupon rising up, and making his reverences, his Royal Highness saluted him, and then returned as before to the middle of the choir, and the Knight sat down covered.

All the Knights and Proxies having been installed in this manner, his Royal Highness returned to his stall, where making his reverences, he sat down covered.

The Officers then returned to their seats, and the Sanctus being sung, the Dean was conducted to the altar by the Usher. During divine service, the Knights put their hats and feathers on the cushions before them. Upon the sentence of the offertory, "Let your light so shine," &c. Bath proceeded to the middle of the choir, and made his double reverences; then bowing to the Earl of Antrim, and Sir George Munro proxy for Sir Hector Munro, his Lordship put on his hat and feather (the proxy remained uncovered), and both making their double reverences together, descended into the middle of the choir, repeated their reverences, and withdrew under their banners.

In this manner all the Knights were summoned, descended from their stalls, and stood under their banners.

The

The two Provincial Kings of Arms, then making their reverences, waited on his Royal Highness Prince Frederick, who, going from under his banner, made a reverence towards the altar (but not to the Sovereign's stall), and another reverence at the altar; where, taking off his hat, and kneeling down, he made his offering of gold and silver; then rising up, and putting on his hat, he returned, making his double reverences as he passed to his stall, wherein he repeated the like reverences, and sat down, placing his hat on the cushion before him.

The rest of the Knights, or Proxies, singly, or with their Companions, were in like manner conducted to the altar by the Heralds; and, after making their offerings, returned, with the like reverences, to their stalls.

Divine service being ended, the Knights put on their hats and feathers; but the Proxies remained uncovered, and Bath summoned them as before under their banners; and the Knights and Proxies then installed, singly or with their Companions, were conducted by two Heralds to the altar, as at the first offering; where each Knight standing, and drawing his sword, presented it to the Dean, who received it, and laid it on the altar. The Knight then redeemed it of the Dean, who restored it with the admonition, according to the oath; viz. By the Oath you have this day taken, I exhort and admonish you to use your sword to the glory of God, the defence of the Gospel, the maintenance of your Sovereign's right and honour, and of all equity and justice, to the utmost of your power. So help you GOD. Stat. of the Order,

Order, pag. 24. which done, they returned under their banners; and the Coronation Anthem, God save the King, being sung;

A procession was then made back to the Prince's chamber in the same order it came from thence, except that the Prebendaries retired to the Jerusalem chamber from the abbey door, and the Esquires and Officers of Arms and Officers of the Order, when they came out of the Church were covered.

Without the door of the abbey the King's Master Cook made the usual admonition to each Companion, viz. Sir, you know what great oath you have taken; which if you keep, it will be great honour to you: but if you break it, I shall be compelled, by my office, to back off your spurs from your heels. Statutes of the Order, page 24.

At the door of the Prince's chamber, a person was appointed by Bath to receive the mantles from the proxies.

At night there was a most magnificent ball and supper at the Opera-house in the Hay-market, at the expence of the new Knights; at which the foreign ministers, a great number of the nobility, as well as of persons of distinction of both sexes, were present; and nothing could exceed the abundant variety, splendor, and elegance of the entertainment, the beautiful disposition of the illuminations, and the remarkable order and propriety with which the whole was conducted.

THE THISTLE.

THE THISTLE

The Star and Collar of the Order of the Thistle 4

THE MOST ANCIENT ORDER OF THE THISTLE,

AS to the original of this ancient Order, John Lesly Bishop of Ross, in his History of Scotland, says, it took its beginning from a bright cross in Heaven, in form like that whereon St. Andrew the Apostle suffered martyrdom, which appeared to Achaius King of Scots, and Hungus King of the Picts, the night before the battle was fought betwixt them and Athelstane King of England, as they were on their knees at prayer; when St. Andrew their tutelary Saint is said also to have appeared, and promised to these Kings that they should always be victorious when that sign appeared; and the next day these Kings prevailing over King Athelstane in battle, they went in solemn procession, barefooted to the Kirk of St. Andrew, to return thanks to God and his Apostle for their victory, vowing that they and their posterity would ever bear the figure of that cross in their ensigns and banners; the place where this battle was fought retains to this day the name of Athelstane's Ford in Northumberland,

James the Fifth King of Scotland, in 1534, received the Order of the Golden Fleece from Charles V. Emperor, as also that of St. Michael from Francis I. King of France in 1535, and that of the Garter in 1536, from Henry VIII. King of England; and in memory of these Orders received, keeping open court, he solemnized the several feasts of St. Andrew, the Golden Fleece, Fleece, St. Michael, and St. George of England, that the several Princes might know how much he honoured their Orders; he set the arms of the Princes (circled with their Orders) over the gate of his palace at Linlithgow, with the Order of St. Andrew.

About the time of the Reformation this Order was scarcely used, the Knights then being so very zealous for the Reformed religion, that they left their order; and it was not resumed till the reign of King James VII. who created eight Knights, and for their better regulation signed a body of statutes*, and appointed the royal chapel at Holyrood house, to be the Chapel of the Order as it still continues, (and by his direction it was repaired, having a fine Organ, with the Sovereign and Knights brethren stalls, and their respective banners hung over them :) but in 1688 the misfortunes of his reign preventing his compleating that noble design, it lay dormant till her late Majesty Queen Anne was pleased to sign another body of statutes, whereby it was restored to its ancient magnificence.

* Vide Nisbet's Systems of Heraldry, vol. II. p. 115.

STATUTES and ORDERS of the most Ancient Order of the THISTLE, revived by her Majesty Anne by the Grace of God, Queen of Scotland, England, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, Sovereign of the said Order, for the better regulating the proceedings and solemnities thereof in all the circumstances thereunto belonging.

“ IN the first place, we think fit to continue the ancient number of Knights, to wit, twelve brethren, with our self the Sovereign of the said most noble Order, to be the precise number of that Order in all time coming.

“ That the Sovereign's habit be such as they shall think fit at any time hereafter to appoint. That the habit of the brethren of this Order, be a doublet and trunk hose of cloth of silver, stockings of pearl coloured silk, with white leather shoes; garters and shoe-strings of green and silver; the breeches and sleeves of the doublet decently garnished with silver and green ribbons; a surcoat of purple velvet, lined with white taffata, girt about the middle with a purple sword belt, edged with gold, and a buckle of gold, at which a sword with a gilted hilt, whereof the shell is to be in the form of the badge of the Order, and the pomel in the form of the Thistle, in a scabbard of purple velvet: over all which a mantle or robe of green velvet, lined with white taffata, with tassels of gold and green, upon the left shoulder of which

 “ Andrew of gold, enamelled white, or of diamonds con“ sisting of the number of thirteen just, the cross and feet “ of St. Andrew resting upon a ground of green, (see “ plate 4.) the collar to be tied to the shoulder of the “ robe, with white ribbons; upon their heads on days of “ solemn procession or feasting, where the Sovereign is “ present, or has a commissioner for that effect, they

 “ ing a large plume of white feathers, with a black “ egret or heron’s tip in the middle of it, the borders “ of the cap adorned with jewels. That the jewel of “ the said Order is to be worn at a green ribbon over the “ left shoulder, cross the body, and tied under the “ right arm. The jewel to have on the one side the “ image of St. Andrew, with the cross before him ena“ melled as is above said, or cut on stone, enriched “ with precious stones round it; on the back of which “ flower reddish with the before mentioned motto round

 “ it, the ground upon which the Thistle is to be “ done

“ done shall be enamelled green. That the medal of “ the Order be all gold, being the St. Andrew bear“ ing before him the cross of martyrdom, with a circle “ round, on which to be the motto of the Order, (see “ plate 4.) and at the lower part of the circle between “ the joining of the words, a Thistle, and to be worn in “ a green ribbon as the jewel, at times when the jewel
 “ is not worn.

“ That upon the left breast of the coat and cloak, shall “ be embroidered a badge of a proportionable bigness, “ being St. Andrew’s cross of silver embroidery, with “ rays going out betwixt the points of the cross, on the “ middle of which a thistle of gold and green, upon a “ field of green; and round the Thistle and field a circle
 “ of gold, having on it the motto of the Order in letters
 “ of Green. (See plate 4.)

“ That her Majesty and her royal successors, Sove“ reigns of the said most ancient and most noble Order of “ the Thistle, shall in all time coming wear the said “ Order, on the ribbon of the Order of the Garter, “ or otherwise in any manner that her Majesty shall “ think fit, and shall wear the collar of the said “ Order on the day of the feast of St. Andrew, being “ the 30th of November yearly.

“ That the Knights brethren of the said Order shall “ wear their collars on all Collar days, wherever the So“ vereign is, and within Scotland, by obligations, upon
 “ all days of publick solemnities, whether the Sovereign
 “ be there or not.

 “ days, now observed by her Majesty. That the collar “ with

“ with the St. Andrew belonging to it, and the medal of “ the Order, given by her Majesty and successors So“ vereigns of the said Order, to the Knights brethren

 “ the Chancellor thereof, having on the dexter fide St.
 “ Andrew’s crofs, and on the finifter the arms of Great “ cled with the collar of the Order, with the image of “ St. Andrew hanging at it, with the motto of the Order “ going round the feal. On the other fide the image of “ St. Andrew, bearing a crofs before him, with a glory “ round his head, written round, Magnum figillum anti- “ quiffimi et nobiliffimi ordinis Cardui.

 “ the Sovereign’s Orders to the Knights brethren, and “ that he attend her royal perfon for that effect. He “ fhall have, on days of folemnity, a mantle of green “ fattin, lined with white; on the left fhoulder of “ which the badge of St. Andrew’s Crofs; his ordinary “ badge is to be hung in a chain of gold, being a “ ground

“ ground white, upon which a thistle of gold; and “ round, the motto, upon which an imperial crown :
 “ and in his hand the batton of his office.

“ Before any can be admitted to the most noble Order
 “ of the Thistle, he must be a Knight Batchelor.

“ Here follows the form of the oath to be taken by “ all, as shall be admitted into this Order as brethren.

“ I shall fortify and defend the true Reformed Protestant “ religion, and Christ's most holy Evangel, to the utmost of “ my power. I shall be loyal and true to my Sovereign

King George the First, on the 17th of Feb. 1714-15, was pleased to confirm the statutes signed by Queen Anne, as above mentioned, with the addition of several more, amongst which, was that of adding rays of Glory to surround the whole figure of St. Andrew which hangs at the collar; and though from the time of the Reformation to the year 1714-15, both elections and instalments had been dispensed with, his Majesty was graciously pleased to ordain for the future, that chapters of election should be held in his royal presence; to which end he ordered the great wardrobe to provide the Knights Brethren and officers of the Order, with such mantles as the statutes of the said Order appointed.

*The collar which the Knights of St. Andrew wear upon the day of their grand feast and other extraordinary occasions, is made of gold, consisting of Thistles, and sprigs of rue enamelled Vert (being the two ancient symbols of the Scots and Picts) appendant to which is the image of St.
 Andrew irradiated, bearing before him, the cross of his martyrdom. (See plate 4.)*

Their habit is their parliament robes, on the left breast thereof is a Cross Saltire surmounted by a star of four points all of silver, adorned with a green roundle bordered with gold, and lettered of the same, containing this motto, Nemo me impune laceffit (no man provokes me without hurt); and in the centre is a Thistle proper, to which the motto alludes. (See plate 4.)

The ordinary symbols worn by the Knights are the star, which is embroidered on their left breast. A green ribbon over their left shoulder (like the Knights of the Garter); appendent to which is the image of St. Andrew with his cross before him, in a circle of gold enamelled Vert, with the motto of the Order. (See plate 4.)

But sometimes they wear encircled after the same manner a Thistle crowned with an imperial crown.

Note, according to the statutes of King James II. the Knights Brethren on their daily apparel, were to wear the before mentioned image of St. Andrew, appendent to a blue watered tabby ribbon, which by Queen Anne in 1703, was changed to green, as now worn.

THE MOST ILLUSTRIOUS ORDER OF

THE first investiture of the Knights of this Order was performed on the 11th of March 1783, with much ceremony, in the following manner, at Dublin castle. That day having been appointed for that purpose by Earl Temple then Lord Lieutenant, the noblemen named in his Majesty's letter to be Knights Companions of the Order were summoned to attend, in order to be invested with the ensigns of that dignity previous to their installation; and being assembled in the presence chamber, a procession was made from thence to the great ball-room as follows:

 His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, with ten aids de camp on each side.

 Yeomen of the Guard.

On their arrival in the great ball-room the different persons who composed the procession proceeded to the places assigned them ; and his Excellency being covered and seated in the chair of state, Ulster King of Arms presented to him his Majesty's letter, which his excellency delivered to the Right Honourable John Hely Hutchinson, Secretary of State, who read the same aloud, during which time his Excellency and the assembly remained standing and uncovered. His Excellency being again seated, Ulster presented to him the blue ribbon and badge of Grand Master, with which his Excellency invested himself.

His Excellency then signified his Majesty's pleasure, that the great ball-room should be styled THE HALL OF ST. PATRICK, which was done by proclamation made by the King of Arms, at the sound of trumpets, and with the usual formalities after which ;

His Excellency directed the King of Arms and Usher of the Black Rod to introduce his Grace the Lord Archbishop of Dublin, to whom the Secretary of State administered the oath, as Chancellor of the Order, and his Grace kneeling, was invested by the Grand Master with the proper badge, and received from his Excellency's hands the purse containing the seals.

The Dean of St. Patrick's was then introduced, to whom the oath of Register of the Order was administered by the Chancellor, and he was invested in like manner by his Excellency, who delivered to him the statutes and the register of the Order. Lord Delvin was next introduced, and, having taken the oath, was invested as Secretary ; and in like manner Charles Henry Coote, Esq. as Genealogist, John Freemantle, Esq. as Usher, and William Hawkins, Esq. as King of Arms of the said Order, (the oath being first administered to them by the Chancellor), were severally invested by the Grand Master.

His Excellency then signified his Majesty's pleasure, that, in consideration of the tender age of Prince Edward, his royal Highness should be invested in England, and that his Majesty's dispensation for that purpose should be entered upon the register of the Order : and in consequence of his Majesty's direction, the Lord

Baron Muskerry was knighted, and declared Proxy to his Royal Highness Prince Edward.

His Excellency then directed that his Grace the Duke of Leinster should be called in; and as by the statutes of the Order none but a Knight can be elected or invested, his Grace, being introduced by the Usher and King of Arms, was knighted by his Excellency with the sword of state, and immediately delivered to the Genealogist the proofs of blood required by the statutes, whereupon the oaths were administered by the Chancellor, and his Grace kneeling was invested by the Grand Master with the ribbon and badge. His Grace then joined the procession, to introduce the Earl of Clanricarde, who being sworn was invested in like manner, and both Knights joined the procession to bring in the Earl of Westmeath; after which the two junior Knights performed this duty, and the senior Knight took his seat as Companion of the Order. The Earls of Inchiquin, Drogheda, Tyrone, Shannon, Clanbrassil, Mornington, Courtown, Charlemont, and Bective, being severally introduced by the two junior Knights, were each of them sworn by the Chancellor, and invested by the Grand Master, and took their seats as Knights Companions.

The ceremony of investiture being ended, his Majesty's pleasure was declared and registered, for appointing his Grace the Lord Archbishop of Armagh, Primate and Metropolitan of Ireland, to be Prelate of the said most illustrious Order.

A procession was then made from St. Patrick's hall to the presence-chamber, where the Lord Lieutenant received received the compliments of the Knights of the Order, and of a numerous assembly of the Nobility and Gentry, who testified their satisfaction on this distinguished mark of the royal favour to the Kingdom. St. Patrick's hall was elegantly fitted up for the occasion, and the galleries belonging to it were crowded with ladies of the first rank and fashion; and the whole ceremony was conducted with the utmost propriety, and with the most splendid magnificence.

The

The CEREMONIAL of the Installation of the Knights of St. PATRICK.

THE day appointed for the installation was the 17th of March, when the Lord Lieutenant, preceded by his own carriages, containing his household, the Esquires of the Sovereign, and the Peer who carried the sword of state, and attended by a squadron of cavalry, set forward from the Castle of Dublin, followed by the Knights Companions, each in a coach attended by their Esquires.

At the door of the cathedral of St. Patrick his Excellency was met by the officers of the Church and of the Order, who attended him to the robing room. His excellency alone being in the full mantle, habit and collar of the Order, the other Knights in the furcoat only, and with their caps and feathers in their hands; their mantles, collars, and swords having been previously sent to the chapter room.

As soon as his Excellency had notified his pleasure, the procession was made to the choir in the following manner, viz.

Upon entering the choir, the trumpets, pursuivants, and other officers attending the procession, proceeded to their proper places, as did his Excellency's suite.
 The Esquires, three abreast, made their reverences to the altar when they came opposite to the stall of their Knight, and then wheeled off to their respective places:
 the Knights then entered two and two, and after the same reverences proceeded to their stalls, where they remained standing till his Excellency was seated, when they bowed all together and seated themselves. The choir then performed the coronation Anthem; after which the Usher, King of Arms, Heralds, and Pursui- vants, attended with the three Esquires of the Senior

Knights, went out with the usual reverences for the Insignia of the Order, with which they returned in manner following, viz.

The principal Esquire bearing the banner furled. The two other Esquires bearing the mantle and the sword. Ulster carrying the great collar of the Order upon a blue velvet cushion.

When they had proceeded to the centre of the choir, they remained there while the four great Officers of the Order proceeded to the stall of the said senior Knight, after the usual reverences to the Sovereign's stall: the Knight then descended into the middle of the choir, where he was invested with the sword, the mantle, and the collar, by the Chancellor and Register, after reading the admonitions prescribed. viz. upon putting on the sword:

Take this sword to the increase of your honour; and in token and sign of the most illustrious Order which you have received, wherewith you being defended may be bold strongly to fight in the defence of those rights and ordinances to which you be engaged, and to the just and necessary defence of those that be oppressed and needy.

Upon putting on the mantle, Receive this robe and livery of this most illustrious Order, in augmentation of thine honour, and wear it with the firm and steady resolution, that by your character, conduct and demeanour, you may approve yourself a true servant of Almighty God, and a worthy brother and Knight Companion of this most illustrious Order.

Upon putting on the collar, Sir, the loving company of the Order of St. Patrick hath received you their brother, lover and fellow, and in token and knowledge of this, they give you, and present you this badge, the which God will that you receive and wear from henceforth to his praise and pleasure, and to the exaltation and honour of the said illustrious Order, and yourself.

They then conducted him to his stall, with the usual reverences to the Sovereign; and he seated himself with his cap upon his head; immediately after which the Esquire unfurled the banner; and the Knight standing up covered, Ulster repeated his style in English, and a procession was made to the Altar, by the Register and Officers of Arms attended by the Esquires with the banner, which was delivered to Ulster, who presented it to the Register, to be placed by him within the rails of the altar. After which, with the usual reverences, the Esquires proceeded to their places, and the Officers of Arms proceeded with the Esquires of the second Knight in like manner as before. And when those ceremonies were finished, the choir performed the Te Deum; after which a procession was made in like manner as before to the chapter room, and from thence to the castle, where the Knights reposed themselves till dinner was served; when a procession was again made from the presence chamber to St. Patrick's Hall, where the Knights took their seats covered, viz, The Grand Master in the centre, the Prince's chair on his left hand, the Prelate, and the Chancellor at the two ends of the Sovereign's table, and the Knights on each side; and the Esquires remained standing till after grace was said, when they retired to the seats prepared for them.

Towards the end of the first course, when his Excellency stood up uncovered, the Knights rose uncovered, and the King of Arms proclaimed by the sound of the trumpet, that the Grand Master and Knights Companions of the most illustrious Order of St. Patrick drank the Sovereign's health. The second course was then brought in with the usual ceremonies; after which his Excellency again stood up, and the Knights uncovered, Ulster again proclaimed that the Grand Master, in the name of the Sovereign, drank the healths of the Knights Companions. And at the end of the second course, all rising again uncovered, the Queen's health was drunk, and proclaimed in the same manner. The desert was then brought in, and during it the Officers of Arms, with the usual reverences, cried Largefs thrice, and first proclaimed the style of the Sovereign, and afterwards of each Knight Companion, who successively stood up during the said proclamation. After which the Knights, Esquires and Officers, attended the Grand Master to the presence chamber, where the ceremony finished, and the Esquires and Officers retired to the dinner prepared for them.

THIS degree of honour is the most ancient, though the lowest Order of Knights in England. It was accounted the first of all military dignity, and the foundation of all honours. The word Batchelor was added by King Henry the third, and so styled, because this title of honour dies with the person to whom it is given, and descends not to his posterity.

This title, which was anciently in high esteem, is now conferred indiscriminately upon Gownsmen, Physicians, Burghers and Artists, whereby the original institution is perverted, and is of less reputation than it hath been; it still is accounted a respectable degree of honour both in England and foreign countries.

A Knight may be made as soon as a child is baptized; the ceremony now in use being no other than kneeling down before the King, who with a drawn sword lightly touches him on the right shoulder, with these words, Sois chevalier au nom de Dieu; and then, Avancez, chevalier.

A Knight must be named by both his Christian and surname (with Sir preceding) as Sir T—— L——, Knight. If a Knight be made a Nobleman, he still retains the name of Knight, and is to be so styled in all writs.

OF THE

ROUND TABLE

KNIGHTS OF THE ROUND TABLE.

ARTHUR King of the Britons succeeded his father Uther Pendragon, who was brother to Aurelius Ambrosius, and third son of Constantine; he married Igren dutchess of Cornwall, by whom he had this son Arthur (born at Tindagal in Cornwall), who was the 11th King of England from the departure of the Romans, and was crowned about the year 516.

King Arthur, having expelled the Saxons out of England, conquered Norway, Scotland, and the greatest part of France (where at Paris he was crowned); and, returning home, lived in so great renown that many Princes and Knights came from all parts to his Court, to give proof of their valour in the exercise of Arms. Upon this he erected a fraternity of Knights which consisted of four and twenty, of whom he was the chief: and for the avoiding of contröversies about precedency, he caused a Round Table to be made, from whence they were denominated Knights of the Round Table. The said Table, according to tradition, hangs up in the Castle of Winchester, where they used to meet, and the time of their meeting was at Whitsuntide.

None were admitted, but those who made sufficient proofs of their valour and dexterity in Arms. They were to be always well armed for horse or foot; they were to protect and defend widows, maidens and children, relieve the distressed, maintain the Christian faith, contribute to the Church, to protect pilgrims, advance honour, and suppress vice. To bury soldiers that wanted sepulchres, to ransom captives, deliver prisoners, and administer to the cure of wounded soldiers, hurt in the service of their country. To record all noble enterprizes, that the fame thereof may ever live to their honour and the renown of the noble Order.

That upon any complaint made to the King of injury or oppression, one of these Knights, whom the King should appoint, was to revenge the same. If any foreign Knight came to court, with desire to shew his prowess, some one of these Knights was to be ready in arms to answer him. If any lady, gentlewoman, or other oppressed or injured person, did present a petition declaring the same, whether the injury was done here or beyond sea, he or she should be graciously heard, and without delay one or more Knights should be sent to take revenge. Every Knight, for the advancement of chivalry, should be ready to inform and instruct young lords and gentlemen in the exercises of arms. According to Guillim, there was no robe or habit prescribed unto these Knights; nor could he find with what ceremony they were made, neither what officers did belong unto the said Order, except a Register to record their noble enterprizes.

THE ORDER

18

THE ORDER OF ST. THOMAS.

KING Richard the First of England instituted this Order, after the surprisal of the city of Acon. It consisted of the English Nation. Their Patron was Saint Thomas Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury. Their Garment white, and the ensign of the Order was a red cross charged in the centre with a white Escallop shell.

But A. Mendo believeth that these Knights were rather some of those which joined themselves with the Knights Hospitallers, for that they wore the same habit, followed the same rule, and observed the same customs, as did the Knights of St. John of Acon.

NOTE, The Collars, Badges, Jewels, and Stars, of the Orders of the GARTER, BATH, THISTLE and St.
PATRICK, are drawn and Engraved from the originals.
