And to the end that fuch flatutes may be legally established, we, following the example of our royal predeceffor King Edward the Third, of glorious memory, founder of the most noble Order of the Garter, who gave fanction to the flatutes of that order, by affixing to them the feal, which had been by his command made and appointed for the same Order, do hereby direct and appoint, that a feal shall be immediately engraven, having upon one fide the representation of our royal Person on horseback in armour, the shield Azure, three Imperial crowns Or, the arms usually ascribed to the renowned King Arthur, with this circumfeription, Sigillum Honoratissimi Ordinis Militaris de Balneo; and on the reverse the same arms empaling our royal arms: and our Royal will and pleasure is, that the faid feal shall for ever hereafter be the seal of the said Order of the Bath; and that the statutes, to be perpetually and inviolably observed within the faid Order, shall be established, and sealed by and with the same seal. And we do hereby, for us, our heirs and fuccessors, constitute, create, and appoint, the Dean of the Collegiate Church of St. Peter's, Westminster, for the time being, to be for ever hereafter Dean of the faid Order; and do for us, our heirs and fucceffors, give and grant full power and authority to the Great Master of the said Order, for the time being, to conflitute, nominate, and appoint, under the feal hereby appointed for the faid Order, a Register, King of Arms, Genealogist, Secretary, Usher,

And to the end that the respective sees, to be paid to the several Officers of the faid Order of the Bath, by fuch perfons as shall be nominated unto, and accept the honour of a companion of the faid Order, may be certain and fixed; we do by these presents, for us, our heirs and fucceffors, will and declare, that all fuch fees shall be fpecially and particularly afcertained and established in and by the statutes to be given and ordained to and for the faid Order, by us, our heirs or fucceffors, under the feal hereby appointed for the faid Order, and shall be of the like force and effect as if the fame had been particularly expressed and set forth in these our letters patents. And laftly, we do hereby, for us, our heirs and fucceffors, grant, that these our letters patents, or the inrolment or exemplification thereof, shall be, in and by all things, good, firm, valid, fufficient, and effectual in the law, according to the true intent and meaning thereof, any omiffion, imperfection, defect, matter, cause, or thing, whatsoever, to the contrary thereof in any wife notwithstanding. The Dean did the same, and stood before his chair.

His Royal Highness Prince Frederick, Great Master, having made his double reverences, stood under his banner covered.

The doors of the chapel were then closed, and the Yeomen remained on the outfide.

The organ and other instruments accompanied this part of the ceremony with the dead march in the oratorio of Saul.

Bath then took up the banner of the late Viscount Fitzwilliam, the next senior deceased Knight; and standing between the door of the chapel and the middle of the choir, bowed to the two junior Knights Companions, who, making their double reverences, received the banner from Bath; and being preceded by two Heralds, carried it between them to the altar, delivered it to the Prebendaries, and, making the usual reverences, returned to Bath.

The banners of all the other deceased Knights, viz. Sir Thomas Whitmore, the Earl of Mexborough, Lord Onslow, Lord Carysford, Sir James Grey, Sir William Beauchamp Proctor, Sir John Gibbons, Sir Charles Saunders, Lord Clive, Sir John Moore, and Sir Charles Montagu, were offered in like manner by the two junior Knights Companions, preceded by two Heralds; which being done, they ascended into their stalls, making the usual reverences, and sat down covered.

Then Bath bowed to Sir Hew Dalrymble, proxy for Sir James Adolphus Oughton, senior Knight elect, who thereupon made his double reverences, ascended into his stall, and stood therein, holding his hat in his hand.

You shall honour God, above all things; you shall be stedfast in the Faith of Christ; you shall love the King your Sovereign Lord, and him and his right defend to your power: you shall defend Maidens, Widows, and Orphans, in their rights; and shall suffer no extortion, as far as you may prevent it; and of as great honour be this Order unto you, as ever it was to any of your progenitors or others. Statute of the Order, page twenty-two.

· All the Knights and Proxies having been installed in this manner, his Royal Highness returned to his stall, where making his reverences, he sat down covered.

The Officers then returned to their feats, and the Sanstus being fung, the Dean was conducted to the altar by the Usher. During divine service, the Knights put their hats and feathers on the cushions before them. Upon the sentence of the offertory, "Let your light so shine," &c. The two Provincial Kings of Arms, then making their reverences, waited on his Royal Highness Prince Frederick, who, going from under his banner, made a reverence towards the altar (but not to the Sovereign's stall), and another reverence at the altar; where, taking off his hat, and kneeling down, he made his offering of gold and filver; then rifing up, and putting on his hat, he returned, making his double reverences as he passed to his stall, wherein he repeated the like reverences, and sat down, placing his hat on the cushion before him.

The Knight then redeemed it of the Dean, who reflored it with the admonition, according to the oath; viz. By the Oath you have this day taken, I exhort and admonish you to use your sword to the glory of God, the defence of the Gospel, the maintenance of your Sovereign's right and bonour, and of all equity and justice, to the utmost of your power. So help you GOD. Stat. of the Order, Order, pag. 24. which done, they returned under their banners; and the Coronation Anthem, God fave the King, being fung;

A procession was then made back to the Prince's chamber in the same order it came from thence, except that the Prebendaries retired to the Jerusalem chamber from the abbey door, and the Esquires and Officers of Arms and Officers of the Order, when they came out of the Church were covered.

Without the door of the abbey the King's Master Cook made the usual admonition to each Companion, viz. Sir, you know what great oath you have taken; which if you keep, it will be great honour to you: but if you break it, I shall be compelled, by my office, to back off your spurs from your heels. Statutes of the Order, page 24.

At the door of the Prince's chamber, a person was appointed by Bath to receive the mantles from the proxies.

At night there was a most magnificent ball and supper at the Opera-house in the Hay-market, at the expence of the new Knights; at which the foreign ministers, a great number of the nobility, as well as of persons of distinction of both sexes, were present; and nothing could exceed the abundant variety, splendor, and elegance of the entertainment, the beautiful disposition of the illuminations, and the remarkable order and propriety with which the whole was conducted.
